

RIGHT TURNS ON RED?—Early morning motorists appeared to be a bit hesitant about turning right on red lights after a stop and a look Tuesday, the first day of the enactment of state law that permits such action. Officials fear that the legislation will lead to increased accidents involving pedestrians and cross traffic, but still claim the law is a good one to cut gasoline consumption and speed up traffic flow. Turns are legal at all intersections that are not posted with prohibitive signs, and, according to Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, no municipalities in Pickaway County have yet passed ordinances banning right turns on red.

Toxic Gas Blamed For 5 Deaths

An Orient youth, just beginning his summer employment, and an Amanda man were among the five people who died Monday afternoon when they were apparently overcome by toxic gases at Inland Products Co. plant, Columbus.

Wendell Tackett, 17, 7766 Stahl Rd., Orient, and Bill Stevens, 46, Route 1, Amanda, apparently inhaled toxic hydrogen sulfide gas, which is produced from decaying animal carcasses, at the rendering plant.

Other persons killed were Franklin L. Doyle, 38, Chillicothe, a maintenance man; Chris Spaulding, 21, Columbus, a laborer; and Gary Lee Fulton, 27, Columbus, a Franklin Twp. volunteer fireman.

Ten other firemen and policemen, who rushed to the aid of the men, were treated for injuries. Two are listed in critical condition at Mount Carmel Medical Center.

The incident apparently occurred shortly before 3 p.m. Monday, according to Franklin Twp. fire chief M. E. Olney, whose department responded to a distress call at the plant.

When the two-man emergency squad and medic unit arrived, they found the four plant employees lying in the bottom of a 15-foot sludge pit behind the Frank Rd. plant.

Positive Identification Of Fire Victim Announced

A positive identification was made Monday afternoon on the remains of the fire victim who died in a early Sunday morning fire on County Road 511. Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was notified shortly after 1 p.m. Monday that the victim was Harry Haines Ramsey Jr.

All indications had pointed in that direction but positive identification was not made until the dental records from Rickenbacker Air Force Base were checked with the teeth of victim. Ramsey was a civilian employee of the air base as well as an Air Force Reserve.

County coroner Dr. Ray Carroll and the authorities of the air base made the identification by pinpointing certain

Cincinnati Youth Sentenced To Death

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Leroy Bates, 18, Monday became the fifth person sentenced to death in Cincinnati courts this year.

Judge William S. Mathews handed down the verdict in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court in connection with last November's tavern shooting death of Lloyd Adkins, an off-duty security guard.

The four-foot square pit, where animal carcasses are deposited, was apparently filled with three feet of fluid.

Firemen theorize that one of the workers fell into the pit while attempting to unclog a sump pump at the pit site. The other three apparently climbed into the pit to rescue the fallen man.

They were all overcome by the gas, which is fatal in a short time, according to Franklin County Coroner William Adron. Official laboratory tests to determine the exact nature of the gas are being conducted.

The two emergency squadmen apparently climbed into the pit to rescue the four fallen men. However, they were not equipped with oxygen masks and were quickly felled by the gas.

The six men were pulled from the pit by additional firemen.

Officials at Inland Products, which produces fertilizer, paste, soap, and other products, were not available for comment.

Tackett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Tackett of the Orient address, was a senior at Eastland Joint Vocational school who was working at the plant during his summer vacation. Stevens was a maintenance foreman at the plant.

similarities between the teeth and the dental x-rays which were on file at the air base.

A preliminary unofficial report on the cause of death was released this morning by Dr. Carroll. He said that although the official report on the autopsy had not come back yet, he had at this time determined the cause of death to be smoke inhalation and carbon monoxide intoxication.

Carroll said the results of the chemical test have not yet been received.

When the body was found in the fire debris at 5:05 a.m. Sunday, the Circleville Fire Department called in Radcliff and Carroll.

The coroner made a preliminary examination of the body and sent it to Berger Hospital for x-rays. From there, he ordered it sent to Cincinnati for an autopsy. He said this morning that in cases of deaths of this nature, such practice was standard procedure.

The funeral service for the 31-year-old Ramsey will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at Dawson Funeral Home in East Liverpool. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Mr. Ramsey leaves a wife, Mrs. Mary Todd Ramsey, and four small children.

Friends may call at the Dawson Funeral Home after 6 p.m. today.

Governor Orders Agencies To Cut Costs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State department heads have been left to decide for themselves how to adjust downward to meet Gov. James A. Rhodes' order for a two per cent cutback in their new budget allocations.

Rhodes ordered the across-the-board reductions in a move he said was needed to compensate for a $100 million deficit in the state's $10.6 billion budget bill, signed by him Monday "reluctantly." It was enacted by majority Democrats in the legislature without Republican support.

Most Democratic legislators were away on vacation this week, but House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, termed most of the Rhodes vetoes inconsistent and politically motivated. He said Rhodes' own budget proposals would have been $300 million short of being funded had they not been cut by the legislature.

The governor said he faced a choice of an across-the-board cut, or a reduction of $100 million in one or two programs. He said latter course would have been "irresponsible."

Budget and Management Director Howard L. Collier told a news conference, called to discuss 72 line items vetoed by the governor, "there are no songbirds in this. Everyone gets the same treatment."

Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater, whose budget request was trimmed $3 million by the administration and another $4 million by the legislature, said the additional two per cent cutback could mean the layoff of about 500 employees in his department, instead of the previously announced 450.

Teater gave assurances that the reduction poses no problem with regard to operation of the state parks, except that layoffs could come late in the season when the demand for their use begins to wane. "In September, possibly," he said in response to a question. He ruled out the possibility of any parks being closed.

Dr. Timothy Moritz, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, said the cutback in his already slashed budget could mean his department the first year of the biennium will have to operate at current spending levels, erasing what would have been a slight increase. He said options "are being studied."

Gerald S. Collins, tax commissioner, said his department has been anticipating the layoff of about 150 field examiners, and might have to add to the total. "There's going to be some layoffs, that's for sure," he said.

Teater and Collins both are watching funds placed in the State Controlling Board for "layoff prevention" purposes—$3 million for natural resources and $2 million for taxation.

Rhodes is asking the legislature in a supplemental appropriation bill later this week to reappropriate those funds and others placed into the Democrat-controlled board directly to the agencies involved.

Also contained in the supplemental bill are provisions to free more than $300 million in other departmental funds Democrats put into the seven-member board in what Rhodes called "an invasion of the executive branch's prerogatives."

Rhodes' line item vetoes dealt extensively with new controlling board powers, as well as those Democrats sought for the State Emergency Board, also dominated by them.

The supplemental bill, expected to be filed in the House clerk's office later this week, seeks to free $258 million in welfare subsidies, $56 million to find a state employee pay increase, $15 million in subsidies for the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, and a special $10 million subsidy for the University of Cincinnati, among others.

All of these will help the state agencies go ahead with their budget planning, said Collier, adding it will give them a chance to take "a two year look" at what lies ahead. The budget director said agencies were being left on their own to adjust to the two per cent cutback in allocations.

Deny U.S. Pressuring Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says the United States has not given Israel an ultimatum to accept Egyptian terms for a Middle East settlement.

"No ultimatum was delivered at the meeting with Ambassador Dinitz," White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Monday. Israeli news reports say Ford told Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz last Friday that unless Israel accepted certain Egyptian proposals, the United States and Israel might have to go their separate ways at a Geneva peace conference on the Middle East.

In an interview with The Washington Post, Ford personally disavowed that he was trying to pressure Israel to accept Egypt's demand for full withdrawal from the Mitla and Gidi passes in the Sinai.

But Ford told The Post the United States would have no choice but to suggest a reconvening of the Geneva peace conference unless there is "a meeting of the minds" on an interim agreement. Israeli officials have expressed fears about being outnumbered and dominated at the Geneva conference by the Arab states and the Soviet Union.

Asked about Israeli reports that the United States would refuse to support Israel at a reconvened Geneva session, Ford said, "Definitely not. We would not go to Geneva supporting anything other than a comprehensive settlement we felt would be fair to all the parties."

Meanwhile, Ford signed a bill that guarantees unemployment compensation for up to 65 weeks to jobless workers under certain conditions. Without the extension, the program would have expired today and workers would have been eligible to collect benefits for only 52 weeks.

About 250,000 persons would have lost the benefits without the extension.

Ford also witnessed the swearing-in of Daniel P. Moynihan as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and said his administration will resist any attempts to exploit the U.N. for "narrow, political interests."

He pledged "determined support" for the U.N. and said the United States will seek "a dialogue of candor, directness, understanding and respect" in the world organization.

In another White House development, Nessen said the United States still maintains its long-held policy of not using nuclear weapons in a first strike capability.

Newsman have pressed Nessen to clarify the U.S. policy ever since Ford said at a news conference last Wednesday that the United States will maintain maximum flexibility in the use of strategic and tactical nuclear weapons in the event of war.

Nessen said Monday that the U.S. policy, as stated in a defense posture statement several years ago, is to disavow the first use of nuclear weapons.

Elsewhere, the Harris Poll said Ford's popularity among Republican and independent voters has boosted him 23 percentage points ahead of his chief rival, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, for the 1976 GOP presidential nomination.

3 Arab Countries Seeking Financial Help From West

LONDON (AP) — Three Arab oil-producing countries that are short of money have bypassed richer Arab governments and turned to the United States and Western Europe for loans, diplomats report.

The three countries are Iraq, whose 1973 production of nearly 680 million barrels was the fifth largest in the Middle East and North Africa; Algeria, which ranked seventh in 1973 with 357 million barrels, and Oman, in last place with nearly 103 million barrels.

The informants said the nations are asking the West for more than $2.5 billion in loans to complete development programs they launched before hard times in the industrialized countries and high oil prices reduced the demand for their oil.

Algeria is reported seeking about $2 billion, half of it in commercial loans from American banks and the other half from the Export-Import Bank and the World Bank. The informants said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is anxious to help the Algerians although they have blocked his attempts to convene an international energy conference by demanding that it discuss all raw materials exported by the Third World.

Iraq, which previously has depended on the Soviet Union for economic development help as well as arms, is reported trying to borrow between $500 million and $700 million on the commercial Eurodollar market. The Iraqis are offering to repay the loans in five to seven years, the diplomats said.

Oman is seeking far less. The sultanate was said to be negotiating for a $50-million bond issue with a group of international banks.

The diplomats could give no explanation for the failure or inability of such wealthier Middle East oil producers as Saudi Arabia, Iran or Libya to meet the needs of the Algerians, Iraqis and Omanis.

Both political and monetary factors could be the answer.

Saudi Arabia and Iran are spending heavily on arms and their own development programs and may be short of cash themselves.

There have been strains for quite a while between the socialism that is dominant in Iraq and Algeria and the conservatism of the Iranian and Saudi monarchies. In addition, Iraq and Iran are longtime enemies that only last fall reached a truce.

Lebanese Street Fighting Continues

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Savage street fighting raged unabated through the night and into the eighth day today while Lebanon's new "reconciliation cabinet" squabbled about ministerial appointments.

Casualties increased to more than 210 dead and nearly 1,000 wounded as armed Moslem and Christian factions battled with mortars, machine guns and rocket-propelled grenades. A total of 91 dead were reported in the 24 hours ending at dawn, the heaviest one-day toll since the fighting broke out last Tuesday.

Terrified noncombatants stayed at home with window shutters closed. All shops and business houses were also closed, and most streets were left to the fighters and the security forces trying in vain to check the bloodshed.

Fires raged in buildings hit by rockets or dynamite.

The government radio warned that no street in the city of 700,000 was safe. Police broadcast appeals to snipers to stop firing on ambulances and trucks.

Christians, Moslems, leftists, rightists and Palestinian guerrillas began fighting each other last week.

The government television station announced Monday that Premier-designate Rashid Karami had finally put together a six-man cabinet, but a midnight radio broadcast reported the official announcement of the new government was held up until today by last-minute snags in the allocation of cabinet jobs.

The reported cabinet lineup represents all of Lebanon's major religious sects. Karami is a Sunni Moslem, former President Chamille Chamoun a Maronite Christian, Philip Takla a Roman Catholic, Ghassan Tueni an Orthodox Christian, Adel Osseiran a Shiite Moslem and Majid Arslan a Druze Moslem.

The parties and factions continued to argue over the cabinet posts, furthering the delay in forming a government to deal with the fighting.

Only Karami and Chamoun made it to the presidential palace Monday night after the cabinet lineup was broadcast. The others were prevented by roadblocks and snipers.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled back a bit in profit taking today despite further signs of improving business conditions.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials stood at 873.51, down 5.48 from the 15-month closing high recorded Monday. Losers held a 4-3 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began, the government reported that factory orders rose in May for their third consecutive monthly gain while manufacturers continued to work down built-up inventories. But some investors evidently chose the occasion of that favorable news to cash in on profits piled up in the market's strong advance of the first six months of the year.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .33 at 93.13.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks slumped .27 to 50.58.

KIWANIS SPEAKER—Dick Seitz (center) of the Physical Fitness Institute of America, located in Cincinnati was the speaker of the evening at Circleville Kiwanis. He feels that physical fitness is one of the major weaknesses of the American people and with just a small amount of time each day, this situation could be remedied. He was introduced by Sam McIlvaine (left), program chairman. Club president Charles Ried is pictured. Jim Shea introduced the new priest of the St. Joseph Church, Father Meagher. An inter-club visitation was introduced from both the Springfield Kiwanis Club and the Columbus Eastern Club.

Advice Columnist Ann Landers To Join Ranks Of Divorcees

CHICAGO (AP) — Syndicated columnist Ann Landers, the personal problem-solver for millions of American newspaper readers, says she and her husband of 36 years are getting a divorce.

"The lady with all the answers does not know the answer to this one," the 57-year-old Miss Landers said in today's column in her home newspaper, the Chicago Sun Times.

The columnist, whose actual name is Esther Lederer, wrote: "The sad, incredible fact is that after 36 years of marriage Jules and I are being divorced. As I write these words, it is as if I am referring to a letter from a reader. It seems unreal that I am writing about my own marriage."

Mrs. Lederer, who writes for Field Newspapers Syndicate of Chicago, was married to her husband, Jules W. Lederer, on July 2, 1939. Until recently, Lederer was chairman of the board of Budget Rent-A-Car Corp. in Chicago.

Miss Landers did not divulge the reason for the divorce, and she asked readers not to write or call for details.

Neither she nor her husband were available for comment.

The couple has a daughter, Margo, who formerly wrote a column for several Chicago newspapers.

In the 20 years Miss Landers has written the column, several articles have centered upon the close relationship she has had with her husband. In 1969, a column celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary.

"That we are going our separate ways is one of life's strangest ironies. How did it happen that something so good for so long didn't last forever?" she asked in today's column.

She said the column was "the most difficult column I ever have written, but also it is the shortest."

About four inches of blank space followed the announcement, "as a memorial to one of the world's best marriages that didn't make it to the finish line."

More than 700 newspapers carry the column, and it has an estimated readership of 54 million persons in the United States. A recent Gallup Poll showed that Miss Landers was one of the 20 most admired women in the nation.

A Page Of Opinion

Recognizing Performance

Merit salary increases given on a selective basis to those workers whose performance warrants special consideration are receiving greater emphasis, reports the American Compensation Association. Companies which have not only been hurt by the recession but are seeking incentives to attract better efforts from their employees have rediscovered the merit increase.

A survey by the association of hundreds of American corporations found the general, across-the-board increase for all employees no longer in favor. With the exception of minimal periodic increases, many of the companies reported they are looking at individual performance and offering salary increases accordingly.

This is an excellent premise on which to build back to economic health and prosperity. It was easy—explaining why so many companies adopted the habit—simply to grant periodic increases to the entire payroll. But two economic damages were perpetuated in the process: the cost base was increased without regard to productivity and those workers who applied themselves diligently in many cases found they were rewarded no better than the mediocre worker.

Severe economic problems have a way of bringing back basic economic verities. One of them is that the person who knows he will be recognized for performance above average will strive harder to meet that goal.

Some Days Detente

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Now that the days are getting shorter it is high time we took inventory of where we stand. Contradictionwise.

We've never been on better terms with the Russians. Dr. Armand Hammer has a $20 billion fertilizer barter deal going with them. Raymond Loewy has signed a contract with them to slick up their cars and hotels. They are about to send us a new subcompact. We're about to send them both President Ford and Henry Kissinger. They've shipped us the Bolshoi Opera, and will send over some treasures of the Hermitage and Pushkin museums never before viewed outside the U.S.S.R. The fuse is burning on the rocket that will lift three astronauts to a union in earth orbit with two cosmonauts.

So? So we — the most trustful nation on earth — have developed a new long-range low-flying hydrogen-tipped multiheaded missile built to clobber Russian cities before it can be detected by radar or blasted by an anti-missile. And the CIA and Howard Hughes are apparently going through with another attempt to lift a sunken Russian sub and rattle through its code books and construction secrets.

The President said emphatically as we retreated from Vietnam, "This action closes a chapter in the American experience." So we're in the process of giving commonwealth status to the Marianas and make them into the nation's forward bastion in the Pacific.

"From here, bombers can strike the Asian mainland," states the normally non-truculent N. Y. Times. "... and missile-bearing ships and submarines will have an even larger forward base than at present.

"Moreover, ground troops can be placed in the Marianas for a more flexible response anywhere in the region."

But we're worried about the health of Mao Tse-tung and Chou Enlai, partners in the great detente.

The President in urging Congress to pass stiff new laws aimed at violent crime said the nation had failed badly to curb murder, rape and mugging. He also said something should be done about the manufacture of cheap pistols of the Saturday Night Special variety.

That much said, that fine posture established, he concluded "I am unalterably opposed to Federal registration of guns or gun owners."

Champagne corks must have popped at the headquarters of Washington's most powerful lobby, the National Rifle Association.

We're going to launch a new satellite into a 345-mile-high orbit packed with telescopes designed to study the sun's surface, corona, and cataclysmic eruptions. Built by Howard Hughes's aircraft company in California the 2,257 pound spacecraft will examine the sun from the comfortable cool distance of 93,000,000 miles. The sun can bubble up to 3,000,000 degrees fahrenheit.

Instruments aboard the unmanned OSO-1, as it is called, will have an incredible pointing accuracy of one arc second, or 1-3,600 of a degree, an accuracy similar to a rifle marksman keeping a 10-foot target in his sights over the 400-mile distance from Boston to Washington, D. C.

But the Penn-Central is going deeper into bankruptcy trying to operate a rickety train that same distance.

TWA's fabulous jets — 747s, L-1011s, 707s and 727s — would have caused George Washington to faint dead away. Big George never traveled faster than the 18 mph speed he reached atop a runaway horse. The airline that the late Charles A. Lindbergh and — what again? — Howard Hughes built into one of the world's foremost carriers has always had great personnel, style, luxurious appointments, cuisine, and it originated inflight movies and, later on, a choice of films, Disney vs. Fellini.

The only flaw in the full blooming of this American Aeronautical dream is that the company — like a number of other aviation giants — can't afford the fuel needed to make the whole thing go. It lost $88 million during the first five months of 1975 ... and two vice presidents.

McGovern Weighing Options On 1976 Presidential Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, who lost by a landslide as the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee, is weighing the option of running again for president in 1976.

In a letter sent last week to fewer than 50 of his key 1972 supporters, McGovern asked their advice on three options he is considering, including one of becoming a presidential contender. However, the South Dakota Democrat said that, "as things stand now, I do not intend to become a candidate."

The other options listed in the letter were endorsing a liberal candidate or making a statement specifying what potential candidate would be unacceptable to him.

After his hard-fought battle for reelection to the Senate last year, McGovern said, "I am not going to be a candidate in 1976" for the presidency.

The letter sent last week said, "I am seeking your candid advice on a personal, confidential basis as to the best role I can play. Some have suggested that I endorse one of the

But all is not lost. We are still a viable, wonderful country. For instance, The Food and Drug Administration is coming up with new regulations which will insist that all brands of aspirin (and other pills) taste equally awful, no matter how the trade names of the product differ.

In the midst of a threatened doctors' rebellion that could bring the nation to its knees, two of them are dueling in another field: jogging. Dr. J. B. Schmidt of Charleston, Ind., was quoted here recently to the effect that the jogging craze is killing off American men and causing American women's breasts to wilt. But now comes Dr. George Sheehan of Red Bank, N.J., to refute that diagnosis. Dr. Sheehan has run the entire 26 miles 385 yards of the past 12 Boston Marathons and is 56, writes, "Over the years I have averaged 30 miles a week on the roads and have found in running nothing less than a new life."

And, oh yes, the New York State Court of Appeals unanimously held the "Rockefeller Law" which makes mandatory a life sentence for any person convicted of selling a narcotic. But neglected to consider poor dumb young people enticed into selling some microscope packet to an agent in disguise. A kid who never got a parking ticket in his life is now a lifer in the hell hole that is Attica (New York) prison.

The agent provocateur got a citation and a pay raise.

presidential candidates in order to help a strong liberal emerge. Is this a good idea? What do you think of the present candidates?

"Others have urged I make clear now who is unacceptable as the Democratic presidential nominee — in short, that I identify certain candidates with whom we fundamentally disagree on either domestic or foreign questions.

"Finally, others are calling on me to consider entering the race myself and to enter primaries in states such as Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and New York."

An aide to McGovern who confirmed that the letter had been sent said that the option of becoming a presidential candidate "is not one he's thinking of very strongly."

McGovern carried only Massachusetts and the District of Columbia in his 1972 run against President Richard M. Nixon.

In his letter, McGovern said the Democrats are "failing to exert strong, effective leadership" in Congress. He warned against the Democrats' adopting a "no-issues, centrist response" and said only the election of a liberal Democratic president could end the stalemate in government.

Stackhouse Backs Fairs Fund Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Director of Agriculture John M. Stackhouse has announced he is supporting legislative approval of a proposal to provide a more equitable distribution of funds from the Ohio Fairs Fund for the State's agricultural fairs.

Under the present provisions of the statute, each of the 95 agricultural fairs receive $2,500 annually for the encouragement of junior fair activities, school displays and livestock premiums.

Stackhouse has proposed an amendment to increase this amount to $5,000.

He said that the source of money for the fund — pari-mutuel betting on horse races — has nearly quadrupled, but the fairs are not benefitting proportionately as the fund grows.

Applegate Plans Congress Race

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, has confirmed he will seek a congressional seat in 1978.

Applegate told reporters at the Ohio Young Democrats convention last weekend that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 18th District.

That district is represented by Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, who has indicated he will seek the party's gubernatorial nomination that year. "I cannot wait any longer," Applegate told a reporter. "And I am sure Congressman Hays knows my intention."

Applegate, 46, a real estate broker, is a member of the Controlling Board and Ohio Constitutional Revision Commission.

Speaking Of Your Health

Is a strep throat as dangerous as it used to be?

Mrs. L. L., Miss.

Dear Mrs. L.:

The streptococcus germ is one of a large group of bacteria. Many of these bacteria are relatively harmless; others, especially the "streptococcus hemolyticus," are responsible for infectious diseases in man.

Before the discovery of the antibiotics, the streptococcus was a source of anxiety to physicians. The methods of treatment and the ability to control this particular germ were limited.

Today, with culture techniques, it is possible to accurately find the exact subdivision of the streptococcus responsible for a particular infection. By special methods, the ideal antibiotic is found to attack and destroy it.

Doctors still have a great deal of awareness that the streptococcus can be potentially dangerous in some instances. Yet the germ is no longer as anxiety producing as it once was.

What is the present attitude about X-ray examination of the chest of a pregnant woman?

Mrs. G. N., R.I.

Dear Mrs. N.:

There never is an indiscriminate use of X-rays. Physicians carefully evaluate the need for X-rays in terms of the general well-being of the patient.

During pregnancy, particularly, there is extra precaution in the use of repeated X-rays. Unless there is specific concern about a chest condition, X-rays are not ordered routinely.

This is in keeping with the general attitude prevalent today of also keeping to a minimum the use of drugs during pregnancy.

Are typhoid inoculations necessary for European travel?

Mr. H. R., Ill.

Dear Mr. R.:

Most European countries have excellent control over their water and milk supply. Consequently, typhoid is a relatively rare disease in these areas.

However, in areas where water pollution is a greater possibility, precautionary typhoid injections should be taken.

The United States Public Health Service and the Medical Department of the Armed Forces should be consulted if travel in potentially dangerous areas is expected. Advice, too, can be gotten from them about the need for smallpox, yellow fever and cholera protection.

NEW YORK (AP) — The big question facing economic policy makers today is how to make the recovery a sound one — that is, one that won't stir up the demons again in 1976 or 1977.

Ours has always been a cyclical economy. An advance or expansion has always been followed by a retreat or contraction, which in turn sets in motion energies that lead to the next expansion.

That, it seems, is the way the economy moves, whether we like it or not. For years we've been trying to flatten out the ripples, but seldom have we succeeded for more than a couple of years. And now comes another test. The nation is, by almost all accounts,

Fertilizer Production 'Crippled'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), contending that fertilizer production by its Lima-based subsidiary has been "seriously crippled" by natural gas cutbacks, sought federal help Monday.

Sohio said it has asked the Federal Trade Commission to order Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., to provide sufficient natural gas daily to equal about 41 per cent of the total feedstock necessary for operation of its subsidiary, Vistron Corp.

The firm said the rest of the necessary feedstock is obtained from such alternate fuels as furnace oil and propane.

Columbia Gas recently advised Sohio that effective Nov. 1, gas deliveries will be reduced by 60 per cent for five months of the winter. Sohio said Columbia Gas already had cut deliveries by 35 to 55 per cent of normal.

A Sohio spokesman said that about 66,000 midwestern farmers depend on fertilizer produced at Lima for all or part of their nitrogen needs. He said the gas is needed now and through the winter to meet demands for the 1975-76 planting season, Sohio said.

The spokesman said ammonia supplies are critically short and are expected to remain so for four years. He said the cutback envisioned by Columbia Gas would result in loss of nearly 94,500 tons of ammonia over the five-month period.

near the bottom of the recession. Although a few economists expect a sharp upturn, the great majority feel that the recovery will be slow and, for a while, maybe not even steady.

This brings up a question of policy: Would it be wise to spur the recovery by letting more money flow into the economy? Such a move probably would quicken the pace of economic activity, but at what price?

The danger of such a move is inflation. If we follow a very easy money policy it poses the threat of boosting economic activity like fire boosts a rocket. Could we then control it?

Some economists already have their fingers crossed about prospects for late 1976 and 1977. They fear we will become impatient, will try to speed the recovery through easy money and government spending, and that prices will begin rising again.

The same is true in regard to governmental services provided to ease the problems of recession. Do you maintain them once the expansion has begun or do you eliminate them? More pertinently, can you end them?

The fight to end recession, therefore, must always be waged with one eye on the possibility of creating a future boom that will burn itself out and drop the nation into still another recession.

If the decisions could be made in a vacuum, as many of the so-called econometric projections are made, the probability of making the wise decisions would be enhanced. But human and political factors do not permit this luxury.

Perique Tobacco Crop Said Poor

GRAND POINT, La. (AP) — Poor weather has destroyed nearly half of this year's crop of an exotic and distinctively aromatic tobacco that can be successfully grown only on a 400-acre plot near here, an agriculture official says.

County Agent Dan Fontenot estimated that this year's Perique tobacco crop will be down 40 to 50 per cent because heavy spring rains washed away soil from many of the plants' root systems, allowing the sun later to scald the roots and kill the tobacco.

Perique tobacco, which is exported to every continent in the world for inclusion in expensive tobacco blends, is successfully grown only on the sandy loam of St. James Parish (county).

A Page Of Opinion

Recognizing Performance

Merit salary increases given on a selective basis to those workers whose performance warrants special consideration are receiving greater emphasis, reports the American Compensation Association. Companies which have not only been hurt by the recession but are seeking incentives to attract better efforts from their employees have rediscovered the merit increase.

A survey by the association of hundreds of American corporations found the general, across-the-board increase for all employees no longer in favor. With the exception of minimal periodic increases, many of the companies reported they are looking at individual performance and offering salary increases accordingly.

This is an excellent premise on which to build back to economic health and prosperity. It was easy—explaining why so many companies adopted the habit—simply to grant periodic increases to the entire payroll. But two economic damages were perpetuated in the process: the cost base was increased without regard to productivity and those workers who applied themselves diligently in many cases found they were rewarded no better than the mediocre worker.

Severe economic problems have a way of bringing back basic economic verities. One of them is that the person who knows he will be recognized for performance above average will strive harder to meet that goal.

Some Days Detente

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Now that the days are getting shorter it is high time we took inventory of where we stand. Contradictionwise.

We've never been on better terms with the Russians. Dr. Armand Hammer has a $20 billion fertilizer barter deal going with them. Raymond Loewy has signed a contract with them to slick up their cars and hotels. They are about to send us a new sub-compact. We're about to send them both President Ford and Henry Kissinger. They've shipped us the Bolshoi Opera, and will send over some treasures of the Hermitage and Pushkin museums never before viewed outside the U.S.S.R. The fuse is burning on the rocket that will lift three astronauts to a union in earth orbit with two cosmonauts.

So? So we — the most trustful nation on earth — have developed a new long-range low-flying hydrogen-tipped multiheaded missile built to clobber Russian cities before it can be detected by radar or blasted by an anti-missile. And the CIA and Howard Hughes are apparently going through with another attempt to lift a sunken Russian sub and rifle through its code books and construction secrets.

The President said emphatically as we retreated from Vietnam, "This action closes a chapter in the American experience." So we're in the process of giving commonwealth status to the Marianas and make them into the nation's forward bastion in the Pacific.

"From here, bombers can strike the Asian mainland," states the normally non-truculent N. Y. Times. "... and missile-bearing ships and submarines will have an even larger forward base than at present."

"Moreover, ground troops can be placed in the Marianas for a more flexible response anywhere in the region."

But we're worried about the health of Mao Tse-tung and Chou Enlai, partners in the great detente.

The President in urging Congress to pass stiff new laws aimed at violent crime said the nation had failed badly to curb murder, rape and mugging. He also said something should be done about the manufacture of cheap pistols of the Saturday Night Special variety.

That much said, that fine posture established, he concluded "I am unalterably opposed to Federal registration of guns or gun owners."

Champagne corks must have popped at the headquarters of Washington's most powerful lobby, the National Rifle Association.

We're going to launch a new satellite into a 345-mile-high orbit packed with telescopes designed to study the sun's surface, corona, and cataclysmic eruptions. Built by Howard Hughes aircraft company in California the 2,257 pound spacecraft will examine the sun from the comfortable cool distance of 93,000,000 miles. The sun can bubble up to 3,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Instruments aboard the unmanned OSO-1, as it is called, will have an incredible pointing accuracy of one arc second, or 1-3,600 of a degree, an accuracy similar to a rifle marksman keeping a 10-foot target in his sights over the 400-mile distance from Boston to Washington, D. C.

But the Penn-Central is going deeper into bankruptcy trying to operate a rickety train that same distance. TWA's fabulous jets — 747s, L-1011s, 707s and 727s — would have caused George Washington to faint dead away. Big George never traveled faster than the 18 mph speed he reached atop a runaway horse. The airline that the late Charles A. Lindbergh and — what again? — Howard Hughes built into one of the world's foremost carriers has always had great personnel, style, luxurious appointments, cuisine, and it originated inflight movies and, later on, a choice of films, Disney vs. Fellini.

The only flaw in the full blooming of this American Aeronautical dream is that the company — like a number of other aviation giants — can't afford the fuel needed to make the whole thing go. It lost $88 million during the first five months of 1975 ... and two vice presidents.

McGovern Weighing Options On 1976 Presidential Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, who lost by a landslide as the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee, is weighing the option of running again for president in 1976.

In a letter sent last week to fewer than 50 of his key 1972 supporters, McGovern asked their advice on three options he is considering, including one of becoming a presidential contender. However, the South Dakota Democrat said that, "as things stand now, I do not intend to become a candidate."

The other options listed in the letter were endorsing a liberal candidate or making a statement specifying what potential candidate would be unacceptable to him.

After his hard-fought battle for reelection to the Senate last year, McGovern said, "I am not going to be a candidate in 1976" for the presidency.

The letter sent last week said, "I am seeking your candid advice on a personal, confidential basis as to the best role I can play. Some have suggested that I endorse one of the presidential candidates in order to help a strong liberal emerge. Is this a good idea? What do you think of the present candidates?"

"Others have urged I make clear now who is unacceptable as the Democratic presidential nominee — in short, that I identify certain candidates with whom we fundamentally disagree on either domestic or foreign questions."

"Finally, others are calling on me to consider entering the race myself and to enter primaries in states such as Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and New York."

An aide to McGovern who confirmed that the letter had been sent said that the option of becoming a presidential candidate "is not one he's thinking of very strongly."

McGovern carried only Massachusetts and the District of Columbia in his 1972 run against President Richard M. Nixon.

In his letter, McGovern said the Democrats are "failing to exert strong, effective leadership" in Congress. He warned against the Democrats' adopting a "no-issues, centrist response" and said only the election of a liberal Democratic president could end the stalemate in government.

Stackhouse Backs Fairs Fund Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Director of Agriculture John M. Stackhouse has announced he is supporting legislative approval of a proposal to provide a more equitable distribution of funds from the Ohio Fairs Fund for the State's agricultural fairs.

Under the present provisions of the statute, each of the 95 agricultural fairs receive $2,500 annually for the encouragement of junior fair activities, school displays and livestock premiums.

Stackhouse has proposed an amendment to increase this amount to $5,000.

He said that the source of money for the fund — pari-mutuel betting on horse races — has nearly quadrupled, but the fairs are not benefitting proportionately as the fund grows.

Immigration To Israel Slows

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Fears of war, recession and Arab guerrilla attacks have severely reduced immigration to Israel. So few American Jews are moving here that the Jewish Agency is closing three immigration centers in the United States.

Immigration, which Israel considers vital, has been falling since the October 1973 Arab-Israeli war — from 56,000 in 1972 to 32,000 last year, official figures show — and only 6,000 Jews of various nationalities have moved to the Jewish state in the first five months of this year.

"Many people are afraid to come because they fear for their security, and because of Israel's economic problems and its quality of life," says Uzi Narkiss, a retired army general who heads the Jewish Agency's immigration department.

At the same time, more and more Israelis, fed up with inflation, high taxes, low salaries and frequent military service, are leaving Israel to look for higher living standards abroad.

Israel's living standards, which are comfortable but don't compare with conditions in the U.S. consumer society, also discourage Americans from moving to the Jewish homeland as they did at the rate of 7,000 a year in the heady times that followed the 1967 Middle East war.

Narkiss told The Associated Press that only 800 Americans settled in Israel between January and the end of May this year. "Most of them are young and they have come to face the challenges," he said.

The Jewish Agency, which handles the bulk of the newcomers, was closing its immigration bureaus in St. Louis, Mo.; Atlanta, Ga., and Union, N.J., Narkis said, because of the slump and lack of funds.

Nine immigrant recruiting offices will keep working in other American cities.

But it is difficult to find an Israeli, even a onetime immigrant, who will admit that he or she is leaving Israel. Quitting the country is regarded as a social disgrace — even the Hebrew word for emigration is "descent" — and most Israelis who put their furniture up for sale claim they are going abroad only for a year or two.

A recent report to parliament, however, said that 20,000 citizens emigrated last year, almost double the 10,000 or 11,000 "descenders" of previous years. A recent poll showed that more than one Israeli in 20 questioned was considering leaving the country.

Even among Israelis who admit they would like to leave, virtually no one says it is because of a war scare of fear for their personal safety. Many complain about frequent military service, however.

The government can do little to ease the economy, inflation or the military burden, but to aid immigrants it gives special tax and customs privileges, helps pay for job and Hebrew language training, subsidizes immigrant artists and has even arranged for a publishing house to print works by immigrant authors.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Tells New Suitor She's 'Divorced'

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago, I had a child out of wedlock. I never married the baby's father, but we lived together as husband and wife until six months ago. When we decided to split up, there was no big scene and no hard feelings. He quietly moved out. I told people at work that my "husband" and I were splitting up. Naturally, they assumed we were getting divorced.

An attractive bachelor (one of the bosses) asked me for a date. I accepted, and now we are together almost every evening and weekends.

I know he is serious about me. He asked me if I had filed for divorce yet, and I avoided giving him a straight answer. Here is where I need your help.

If I confess that I had the child out of wedlock and never married the baby's father, yet lived with him for over two years, I wonder what this other guy will think of me.

I don't want to make up any lies, but if I tell him the truth, he might think I'm a tramp. How much should I tell him?

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Tell him everything. Your past doesn't necessarily make you a "tramp." Many learn and mature from past mistakes, and the fact that you don't want to lie now shows that you have both learned and matured. Level with him, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that most of the better apartment-house owners will accept a couple with dogs or cats but won't rent to a couple with a child? The most damage our 4-year-old son could do is to crayon up the walls, whereas a dog or cat could completely ruin the place.

We are sick to death of being turned away as though we were undesirables because we have a child. I am also insulted that my son is classed lower than a dumb animal. We would be willing to put up a deposit to cover any damages our little 30-pounder might do.

Print this, please. I am sure other parents of young children share my problem.

MRS. B.

DEAR MRS. B.: I sympathize dear. But it's not only property damage that concerns apartment owners. Children sometimes make more noise than some adults can tolerate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress with a pet peeve: women who come in with escorts and refuse to speak to me.

When I ask for their order, they ignore me, turn to their escorts and tell THEM what they want. Then the man gives the order to me. This is ridiculous.

Do women think they are too good to talk to a waitress, or what? This happens all the time, and it burns me up. Maybe if you print this, it will have some effect on women who are guilty of this humiliating practice. Thanks a lot.

BURNED

DEAR BURNED: Sorry, but according to the etiquette book, the gentleman should order for both the lady and himself. This is practiced in the more elegant and formal restaurants. But in the interest of common sense and expedience, I think it's time that moth-eaten rule was dropped.

Murder Link Being Probed

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Marion County Sheriff Ron Scheiderer was in Adrian, Mich., today to look into a possible connection between the fatal shooting of a police officer there and the murder of Walter E. Miller, 74, of Marion.

In Adrian, three Marion men, Harold Leroy Huggins, 17, Paul Coy Craft, 18, and Gerald Beaton, 31, were charged with murder for the fatal shooting of patrolman Bobby Williams, 22, following a gas station holdup.

Immigration To Israel Slows

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Fears of war, recession and Arab guerrilla attacks have severely reduced immigration to Israel. So few American Jews are moving here that the Jewish Agency is closing three immigration centers in the United States.

Immigration, which Israel considers vital, has been falling since the October 1973 Arab-Israeli war — from 56,000 in 1972 to 32,000 last year, official figures show — and only 6,000 Jews of various nationalities have moved to the Jewish state in the first five months of this year.

"Many people are afraid to come because they fear for their security, and because of Israel's economic problems and its quality of life," says Uzi Narkiss, a retired army general who heads the Jewish Agency's immigration department.

At the same time, more and more Israelis, fed up with inflation, high taxes, low salaries and frequent military service, are leaving Israel to look for higher living standards abroad.

Israel's living standards, which are comfortable but don't compare with conditions in the U.S. consumer society, also discourage Americans from moving to the Jewish homeland as they did at the rate of 7,000 a year in the heady times that followed the 1967 Middle East war.

Narkiss told The Associated Press that only 800 Americans settled in Israel between January and the end of May this year. "Most of them are young and they have come to face the challenges," he said.

The Jewish Agency, which handles the bulk of the newcomers, was closing its immigration bureaus in St. Louis, Mo.; Atlanta, Ga., and Union, N.J., Narkiss said, because of the slump and lack of funds.

Nine immigrant recruiting offices will keep working in other American cities.

But it is difficult to find an Israeli, even a onetime immigrant, who will admit that he or she is leaving Israel. Quitting the country is regarded as a social disgrace — even the Hebrew word for emigration is "descent" — and most Israelis who put their furniture up for sale claim they are going abroad only for a year or two.

A recent report to parliament, however, said that 20,000 citizens emigrated last year, almost double the 10,000 or 11,000 "descenders" of previous years. A recent poll showed that more than one Israeli in 20 questioned was considering leaving the country.

Even among Israelis who admit they would like to leave, virtually no one says it is because of a war scare of fear for their personal safety. Many complain about frequent military service, however.

The government can do little to ease the economy, inflation or the military burden, but to aid immigrants it gives special tax and customs privileges, helps pay for job and Hebrew language training, subsidizes immigrant artists and has even arranged for a publishing house to print works by immigrant authors.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Tells New Suitor She's 'Divorced'

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago, I had a child out of wedlock. I never married the baby's father, but we lived together as husband and wife until six months ago. When we decided to split up, there was no big scene and no hard feelings. He quietly moved out. I told people at work that my "husband" and I were splitting up. Naturally, they assumed we were getting divorced.

An attractive bachelor (one of the bosses) asked me for a date. I accepted, and now we are together almost every evening and weekends.

I know he is serious about me. He asked me if I had filed for divorce yet, and I avoided giving him a straight answer. Here is where I need your help.

If I confess that I had the child out of wedlock and never married the baby's father, yet lived with him for over two years, I wonder what this other guy will think of me.

I don't want to make up any lies, but if I tell him the truth, he might think I'm a tramp. How much should I tell him?

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Tell him everything. Your past doesn't necessarily make you a "tramp." Many learn and mature from past mistakes, and the fact that you don't want to lie now shows that you have both learned and matured. Level with him, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that most of the better apartment-house owners will accept a couple with dogs or cats but won't rent to a couple with a child? The most damage our 4-year-old son could do is to crayon up the walls, whereas a dog or cat could completely ruin the place.

We are sick to death of being turned away as though we were undesirables because we have a child. I am also insulted that my son is classed lower than a dumb animal. We would be willing to put up a deposit to cover any damages our little 30-pounder might do.

Print this, please. I am sure other parents of young children share my problem.

MRS. B.

DEAR MRS. B.: I sympathize dear. But it's not only property damage that concerns apartment owners. Children sometimes make more noise than some adults can tolerate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress with a pet peeve: women who come in with escorts and refuse to speak to me.

When I ask for their order, they ignore me, turn to their escorts and tell THEM what they want. Then the man gives the order to me. This is ridiculous.

Do women think they are too good to talk to a waitress, or what? This happens all the time, and it burns me up. Maybe if you print this, it will have some effect on women who are guilty of this humiliating practice. Thanks a lot.

BURNED

DEAR BURNED: Sorry, but according to the etiquette book, the gentleman should order for both the lady and himself. This is practiced in the more elegant and formal restaurants. But in the interest of common sense and expedience, I think it's time that moth-eaten rule was dropped.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN TROUBLE IN SILVER SPRINGS, MD." Tell your parents at once. I promise they won't kick you out of the house. In times of trouble, your parents are your best friends. Tell them today!

Murder Link Being Probed

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Marion County Sheriff Ron Scheiderer was in Adrian, Mich., today to look into a possible connection between the fatal shooting of a police officer there and the murder of Walter E. Miller, 74, of Marion.

A passing motorist found Miller's bullet-riddled body along a road near his home Monday.

In Adrian, three Marion men, Harold Leroy Huggins, 17, Paul Coy Craft, 18, and Gerald Beaton, 31, were charged with murder for the fatal shooting of patrolman Bobby Williams, 22, following a gas station holdup.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

A $731 biennium budget appropriation for the Department of Transportation was passed by the House on Tuesday of this week. This appropriation was originally left out of the $10.6 billion state budget due to the fact that lawmakers wanted more accurate information from the Department before making any premature fiscal decisions.

The transportation budget is substantially less than the $940 million appropriated for the last biennium. The basic factors for the cut is a decline in revenue from the 7 cent per gallon state gasoline tax and a decrease in the availability of federal funds.

The Department of Transportation has set highway maintenance and repair as its first priority under the new budget. An expenditure of $297.5 million will be used for new highway construction.

The Department Budget also contains a $10 million appropriation for urban mass transit subsidies.

Legislation which would abolish the Court of Tax Appeals and create in its place a Judicial Tax Court, has recently been introduced in the House.

The merit of H.B. 920 is that it would develop a uniform system of Ohio Case law relative to tax controversies. The establishment of the new Judicial Tax Court would also be more effective in the job of remanding tax decisions back to local jurisdiction or other state agencies for reconsideration.

H.B. 920 would create a 3 member court and would require that each Judge be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. A prerequisite of a seat on the Court is that a member be a practicing attorney of at least 6 years and have practiced or taught tax in Ohio.

The bill would also cut back on bureaucracy. H.B. 920 would abolish the Board of Tax Appeals and transfer its quasi-judicial appellate review functions to the Tax Commissioner.

The bill does provide for the transfer of certain personnel of the Board of Tax Appeals to the office of the Tax Commissioner without loss of civil service or employment rights.

The legislation has been referred to the House Ways and Means Committee.

A bill which extensively revises the Title 41 Mining Laws of Ohio was introduced this week. The legislation deals with the Administration of these mining laws by the Division of Mines of the Department of Industrial Relations, and with mine equipment and safety regulations.

The chief impetus behind the bill is the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969. Many of the provisions in H.B. 930 came directly from the Federal Act and others from the already updated West Virginia and Kentucky mining laws.

The bill has been referred to the House Economic Affairs and Federal Relations Committee.

A bill setting the maximum finance charge on revolving credit accounts at 12 per cent per annum was introduced this week.

Under current Ohio law, finance charges are set up according to a scale. For revolving accounts of up to $200, a 24 per cent per annum finance fee is charged. For revolving accounts of $200-500, 18 per cent is charged and for amounts owing of $500 or over, a 12 per cent finance charge is added.

The bill also includes the method of calculating finance charges (monthly) on the revolving credit accounts. It provides for an adjusted balance method whereby the unpaid balance of the previous month, less credits and payments made within the current month.

This week the House passed a major energy bill, which, if enacted, would expand the Ohio Development Center into the Ohio Energy and resource Development Agency.

The Governor originally proposed that the legislature establish the energy agency as a separate entity. However, the legislature felt that the creation of a new, separate agency was unnecessary and would only contribute to additional bureaucratic growth.

For that reason, Senate and House Democrats used a separate legislative vehicle, Sub. S.B. 207, which passed the House this week strictly on party line vote.

Set Demolition Of Plant Debris

SHELTON, Conn. (AP) — A city official said Monday an estimated $2.5 million demolition project to remove the debris of a factory building destroyed by dynamite blasts and fire is scheduled to begin this week.

Removal of the remains of the $10 million plant of the Sponge Rubber Products Co. is expected to take about six months, mayor's aide Lloyd Witmer said.

Ten men, including the president of the parent firm, have been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges growing out of the March 1 explosions that touched off the inferno.

About 300 employees of the company, which had five plants in the area, lost their jobs because of the destruction.

Phaseout Of Oil Depletion Allowance Hurts Steel Firms

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Phase-out of the oil depletion allowance has struck another blow to the already sagging steel market, Industry Week reports.

Major producers of oil country goods say this has resulted in a decrease of 10 to 15 per cent in orders from the oil industry, the Cleveland-based magazine says.

And, the publication says, oil country goods have been among the few steel products where producers' capacities have continue to remain heavily booked.

The steel industry has been experiencing a drop in demand for oil country goods for about two months, the magazine says. One producer expects another month of decline, and the magazine estimates the full effects of the phase-out of the allowance should be known in the next two months.

The remainder of the steel industry also continues to register signs of a slump. The magazine says steel orders and shipments will be at their lowest levels of the current downward trend during July and August.

Inventories of more than 2 million net tons of finished steel products remain to be liquidated, the magazine says. Inventory depletion by customers would allow steel producers to meet demand with newly manufactured products.

One of the steel industry's largest customers, the automobile market, has not yet shown signs of increased demand. One steel mill executive told the magazine that car steel orders account for only 70 per cent of what his firm could ship in July.

Steel plate demand, which had been holding up well, also is beginning to decline, according to the magazine.

As for Steel scrap prices, a key industry indicator, the magazine's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steel making scrap last week was $66 a ton, a decrease of $3.50 from the preceding week. The composite is at the lowest mark since mid-October, the magazine says.

In the week ended June 28, the Larger Checks For Welfare Sent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Larger checks went out to welfare recipients Monday after the budget for the Department of Public Welfare was approved by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

A department spokesman said two computer tapes were prepared for the new fiscal year for the 563,000 recipients, one with old rates and another with a new scale.

The monthly allowance for a typical family of four will be $253, up from $209 as a result of the new budget.

magazine estimates raw steel production will be 2,050,000 net tons. In the week ended June 21, production was 2,047,000 net tons, the lowest level since the week ended Jan. 1, 1972.

Colby Opposes Open CIA Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Central Intelligence Agency Director William E. Colby has opposed a suggestion of the Rockefeller Commission that at least part of the CIA's secret, multi-million dollar budget should be made public.

Colby said that disclosure of even the CIA's overall spending total inevitably would lead to disclosure of details which need to be kept secret.

"There are certain things, of course, in our clandestine activity that must be kept from public exposure and even the risk of public exposure," Colby said Sunday on NBC.

UMW Chief Studies Bid For Re-Election

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Miller said here Sunday he expects to seek re-election as president of the 200,000-member United Mine Workers union, although one of his campaign promises in 1972 was that he would serve for only one five-year term.

"I'll probably be forced to run for re-election," Miller said, indicating he still has goals to accomplish.

Miller, speaking at a rally to celebrate the 85th anniversary of the founding of the union, noted that another campaign promise, to move the UMW headquarters from Washington to the Appalachia coal fields, also has not been kept.

He said this is because two sites he proposed, both in West Virginia, were rejected by the union's international board. Miller said several other sites now are under consideration.

Although he said conditions for miners are much better than they were several decades ago, Miller urged miners to continue to gather collectively to fight for more benefits.

"Mine workers were too tolerant in the past and wouldn't speak out against the poor conditions," he said. "I urge younger members not to make the same tragic mistake."

He cited changes in black lung benefits, improved salaries and working conditions as accomplishments of miners working collectively.

He said coal miners will get the rights they are demanding once Americans recognize that miners are "good honest taxpaying citizens who work in the most hazardous occupation in this country."

About 200 persons attended the rally at the Ohio University Convocation Center. Other speakers included James Kidd, president of the Southeastern Ohio Black Lung Association, and John Guzek, UMW District 6 president.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Steve, taking in his first wrestling match, chose a ringside seat to be sure of a clear view of the action. Midway through the fight, one of the wrestlers tossed his opponent over the ropes—squarely into Steve's lap.

Injured and outraged, Steve lost no time in suing the promoter for damages. At the trial, he relied on two main points:

- 1) that as a newcomer to the sport, he had no reason to be on guard against such an occurrence; and
- 2) that the promoter was well aware that incidents of this nature were frequent in these bouts.

The court concluded that the promoter could indeed be held legally liable. The judge said Steve was entitled to fair warning of the risk lurking in the front row seats.

On the other hand, some hazards cannot be blamed on the management. In another match, an impulsive wrestler vaulted over the ropes, picked up a chair, and bashed a ringside spectator on the head.

While he might claim damages from the wrestler, a court said he could not collect anything from the promoter. Calling the wrestler's action "outside the scope of his employment," the court said the promoter had hired him to wrestle—not to bash onlookers.

Nor was another spectator any luckier in collecting damages after having been hit by a bottle, thrown anonymously from the back of the auditorium. The court said the management could scarcely have either foreseen or prevented this "isolated, wilful, and sudden attack."

The court added: "Such things occasionally happen at football, baseball, and other games at which crowds gather, and nobody is to blame except the malevolent person who did it."

Two Men Bound To Grand Jury

Two Circleville men were bound to grand jury during Municipal Court session Monday by presiding Judge George Young.

Charles R. Hutchinson, 212 W. Mound St., and Randy S. Minor, Route 2, both waived preliminary hearings, for the June 27 theft of a 20-gauge shotgun from the Douglas A. Marshall residence.

The two were permitted to sign their own recognizance bonds.

Lawyer Defends Search Rule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo attorney has defended a controversial rule of law which prohibits introduction of evidence gained in illegal searches.

Attorney Dan H. McCullough mounted the defense in a speech to the Lucas County Bar Association, reprinted in the Ohio Bar Journal.

Judge R. Patrick West of the Columbus Municipal Court proposed back in March that Ohio's General Assembly abolish what is called the exclusionary rule.

McCullough argued the rule is the only way to deter overzealous police officers from violating the constitutional rights of citizens.

West argued the rule destroys public confidence in the judicial system by letting obviously guilty criminals escape punishment. He proposed that persons victimized by an illegal search be allowed to sue offending police officers.

"I don't believe there is great public antagonism to the exclusionary rule," said McCullough. "The antagonism, if any, is that of police officers who, upon making an arrest, think that it is the duty of judge and jury to confirm their findings of guilt."

McCullough said few criminal defendants actually try to invoke the exclusionary rule, let alone succeed. He also said West's proposed replacement has been found unworkable in the opinion of most legal scholars.

McCullough cited a 1936 opinion by the late Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Jones, which discussed the same idea proposed by West and discarded it.

Judge Jones called the lawsuit idea an "illusory remedy" which offers no real chance for victims of illegal searches to correct the wrong.

He noted that damages in a trespass suit are limited to actual damages, and added that "if the officer searches with care, he can avoid all but nominal damages, a penny or a dollar."

To collect punitive damages, Jones said, "The plaintiff must show the real ill-will or malice of the defendant, and surely it is not unreasonable to assume that one in honest pursuit of crime bears no malice toward the search victim."

Jone listed a long series of legal obstacles in the path of anyone attempting to sue a police officer for trespass.

"The conclusion is inescapable that but one remedy exists to deter violations of the search and seizure clauses," concluded Jones. "That is the rule which excludes illegally obtained evidence."

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Miller said here Sunday he expects to seek re-election as president of the 200,000-member United Mine Workers union, although one of his campaign promises in 1972 was that he would serve for only one five-year term.

"I'll probably be forced to run for re-election," Miller said, indicating he still has goals to accomplish.

Miller, speaking at a rally to celebrate the 85th anniversary of the founding of the union, noted that another campaign promise, to move the UMW headquarters from Washington to the Appalachia coal fields, also has not been kept.

He said this is because two sites he proposed, both in West Virginia, were rejected by the union's international board. Miller said several other sites now are under consideration.

Although he said conditions for miners are much better than they were several decades ago, Miller urged miners to continue to gather collectively to fight for more benefits.

"Mine workers were too tolerant in the past and wouldn't speak out against the poor conditions," he said. "I urge younger members not to make the same tragic mistake."

He cited changes in black lung benefits, improved salaries and working conditions as accomplishments of miners working collectively.

He said coal miners will get the rights they are demanding once Americans recognize that miners are "good honest taxpaying citizens who work in the most hazardous occupation in this country."

About 200 persons attended the rally at the Ohio University Convocation Center. Other speakers included James Kidd, president of the Southeastern Ohio Black Lung Association, and John Guzek, UMW District 6 president.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Steve, taking in his first wrestling match, chose a ringside seat to be sure of a clear view of the action. Midway through the fight, one of the wrestlers tossed his opponent over the ropes—squarely into Steve's lap.

Injured and outraged, Steve lost no time in suing the promoter for damages. At the trial, he relied on two main points:

- 1) that as a newcomer to the sport, he had no reason to be on guard against such an occurrence; and
- 2) that the promoter was well aware that incidents of this nature were frequent in these bouts.

The court concluded that the promoter could indeed be held legally liable. The judge said Steve was entitled to fair warning of the risk lurking in the front row seats.

On the other hand, some hazards cannot be blamed on the management. In another match, an impulsive wrestler vaulted over the ropes, picked up a chair, and bashed a ringside spectator on the head.

While he might claim damages from the wrestler, a court said he could not collect anything from the promoter. Calling the wrestler's action "outside the scope of his employment," the court said the promoter had hired him to wrestle—not to bash onlookers.

Nor was another spectator any luckier in collecting damages after having been hit by a bottle, thrown anonymously from the back of the auditorium. The court said the management could scarcely have either foreseen or prevented this "isolated, wilful, and sudden attack."

The court added: "Such things occasionally happen at football, baseball, and other games at which crowds gather, and nobody is to blame except the malevolent person who did it."

Two Men Bound To Grand Jury

Two Circleville men were bound to grand jury during Municipal Court session Monday by presiding Judge George Young.

Charles R. Hutchinson, 212 W. Mound St., and Randy S. Minor, Route 2, both waived preliminary hearings, for the June 27 theft of a 20-gauge shotgun from the Douglas A. Marshall residence.

The two were permitted to sign their own recognizance bonds.

Lawyer Defends Search Rule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo attorney has defended a controversial rule of law which prohibits introduction of evidence gained in illegal searches.

Attorney Dan H. McCullough mounted the defense in a speech to the Lucas County Bar Association, reprinted in the Ohio Bar Journal.

Judge R. Patrick West of the Columbus Municipal Court proposed back in March that Ohio's General Assembly abolish what is called the exclusionary rule.

McCullough argued the rule is the only way to deter overzealous police officers from violating the constitutional rights of citizens.

West argued the rule destroys public confidence in the judicial system by letting obviously guilty criminals escape punishment. He proposed that persons victimized by an illegal search be allowed to sue offending police officers.

"I don't believe there is great public antagonism to the exclusionary rule," said McCullough. "The antagonism, if any, is that of police officers who, upon making an arrest, think that it is the duty of judge and jury to confirm their findings of guilt."

McCullough said few criminal defendants actually try to invoke the exclusionary rule, let alone succeed. He also said West's proposed replacement has been found unworkable in the opinion of most legal scholars.

McCullough cited a 1936 opinion by the late Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Jones, which discussed the same idea proposed by West and discarded it.

Judge Jones called the lawsuit idea an "illusory remedy" which offers no real chance for victims of illegal searches to correct the wrong.

He noted that damages in a trespass suit are limited to actual damages, and added that "if the officer searches with care, he can avoid all but nominal damages, a penny or a dollar."

To collect punitive damages, Jones said, "The plaintiff must show the real ill-will or malice of the defendant, and surely it is not unreasonable to assume that one in honest pursuit of crime bears no malice toward the search victim."

Jones listed a long series of legal obstacles in the path of anyone attempting to sue a police officer for trespass.

"The conclusion is inescapable that but one remedy exists to deter violations of the search and seizure clauses," concluded Jones. "That is the rule which excludes illegally obtained evidence."

Chenault To Appeal Sentence Of Death

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Marcus Wayne Chenault, who blew kisses to the jury which convicted him of the slaying a year ago today of Mrs. Martin Luther King Sr., plans to appeal his death sentence to federal courts.

"We'll take the case into federal court to question the state's death penalty as 'cruel and unusual punishment,'" said defense attorney Randy Bacote.

"He's not under the threat of continuing death penalty, however," added Bacote, whose client is still being held in Fulton County jail. The state's electric chair is in the state prison at Reidsville.

The Georgia Supreme Court recently upheld the death penalty against the 23-year-old black Ohio college student, saying it found the sentence "neither excessive nor disproportionate."

Chenault was convicted last September in the shooting deaths of Mrs. King, mother of the slain civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and a deacon at historic Ebenezer Baptist Church.

As the verdict was read, the small, boyish-faced man with bulging eyes continued the conduct which marked his trial. He blew kisses at the jury and silently clapped his hands.

Later, as his lawyer argued for mercy, Chenault trembled, his face contorted, feigning the spasms of death in the electric chair. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Chenault of Dayton, Ohio, first stared in disbelief. Then his mother burst into tears.

Asked if Chenault had had visitors during his year in prison, Bacote replied, "He doesn't want to see anybody. I believe he needs help."

The attorney added, however, "He's in good spirits."

Bacote said he might ask Gov. George Busbee for a reprieve for Chenault, whom he maintains is insane.

Two psychiatrists testified during the trial that Chenault suffered from paranoid schizophrenia. Under cross-examination, however, both said he was able to distinguish between right and wrong.

Moritz Eyes Cutbacks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state's mental health director says he's not ready to carry through his threat to release nondangerous mental patients from state institutions, despite a budget cut.

Dr. Timothy B. Moritz, director of the state Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, said the threat would not be carried out until he has a firmer idea of the budget's effect on his program.

But he added that under present orders from Gov. James A. Rhodes,

Court Reversed On Land Decision

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The First District Court of Appeals Monday reversed a lower court decision, ruling a Butler County Common Pleas Court judge "strayed far afield" in finding Cincinnati Gas & Electric guilty of bad faith in its legal fight to appropriate land for a proposed transmission line.

The appellate court remanded the case back to lower court "for further proceedings."

The decision ruled that Judge Robert L. Marrs erred in finding the Cincinnati utility company guilty of bad faith and abuse of discretion in denying CG&E the right to appropriate land for the high voltage line project.

his department will have less money to spend in the fiscal year beginning today than it did in the fiscal year just ended.

"We have the situation under careful review at this time," Moritz said. "We'll do what we have to do."

Rhodes on Monday signed the state's new $10.6 billion twoyear budget, which includes $518.46 million for Moritz' department.

But the governor ordered all executive departments, including mental health, to cut spending by two per cent. The governor said the revenue projections in the budget appeared too optimistic.

The budget allowance for mental health is 16.4 per cent above that for the department over the last two years.

But the department director said the two-year budget is misleading. He said the increase is far less when comparing the first year of the new biennium to the last year of the biennium just ended.

President Praises Girl For Heroics

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Pam Rogg, 19, opened her mail before heading for surgery Monday—and immediately got a lift.

Among the letters was a citation from President Gerald Ford commending her for rushing into a burning house last March.

The President praised her for "unhesitating efforts without regard for your own safety."

Miss Rogg was rescued from the blaze when a 51-year-old suburban Cincinnati man entered the house after the young woman failed to emerge. James Watson found her unconscious on the second floor and carried her outside.

The building turned out to be uninhabited.

Watson has been nominated for a Carnegie Medal which is awarded for special acts of heroism.

"I'll always be grateful to him for saving my life," said the Price Hill woman. She entered the hospital for double minor surgery.

Wood Family To Speak At Jefferson CCCU

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald Wood, missionary appointees to Papua, New Guinea, will speak 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Circleville-Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union, located on the Circleville-Tarleton Road.

Born in Braman, Oklahoma, Wood grew up near Kansas City, Missouri, where his family had moved. Following high school, he enrolled in John Wesley College in Owaso, Michigan, where he decided to be a missionary.

Also at JWC, he met Miss Dorothy Love from Lancaster, Ohio, who also was preparing for the mission field. They were united in marriage May 27, 1949, and graduated in 1952, with each receiving a Th B degree. They then pastored for a time in Missouri.

In 1955, Wood was drafted into the U.S. Army and was sent to Korea. When he was released from service, he completed work at John Wesley College for an AB degree in religion. He also holds an MA degree in Education from Michigan State University in East Lansing and has met requirements for Elementary Teacher Certification. While taking his graduate work, he taught at Chesaning Junior High School.

The Woods served as missionaries in Zambia, Africa, from 1963 to 1968. His duties included teaching in a high school and serving as a mission station superintendent. She ministered in church work to the women and children. For medical reasons they were unable to return to Zambia.

After settling in Lancaster, he taught school while she worked in an office. The Woods transferred their church membership to the Lancaster CCCU Church, where Mrs. Wood formerly attended. She has served as the missionary president of that church.

With missions still burning in their hearts, the Woods received appointment by the General Missionary Board to Papua New Guinea for a three-year term. Plans are for them to manage the Farata Mission Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood, with their four children, expect to leave for New Guinea shortly after mid-September if their share support has been raised.

Higher Education Measures Vetoed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes disallowed several proposals affecting state universities in his partial veto of the state's new $10.6 billion budget bill.

They included a suggested ceiling on student fees which the governor said are a matter best left up to the boards of trustees of the various institutions.

Rhodes also rejected, because of "unworkable language," a provision exempting out-of-state students from tuition surcharges if they live within 30 miles of the campus.

Majority Democrats inserted the provision into the bill to try to help the University of Toledo, the University of Cincinnati, and Youngstown State University.

Rhodes' budget director, Howard L. Collier, said the language in the bill would have provided an unintentional exemption for nonresidents who live in Ohio but meet the 30-mile criteria at the same time. The governor said the plan could be the subject of future legislation.

Also turned down, on the basis of faulty language, was a requirement for the universities to initiate "affirmative action" plans to assure nondiscrimination on the basis of sex and race and reflecting Ohio's population. Rhodes contended the language would "eliminate" predominantly black Central State University, as it is now constituted. Rhodes agrees "with the concept," however, Collier said.

Similarly, the governor nixed a Democratic plan to have grants under the Ohio Instructional Grants program be based on the gross income of a student's family, rather than income after adjustments for taxes. Rhodes said the bill contradicts itself, providing that grants for the 1975-1976 school year would continue to be on adjusted income.

Rhodes vetoed another provision that would have placed a special $10 million subsidy for the University of Cincinnati into the State Controlling Board. He said forthcoming legislation will seek to have it handled by the Board of Regents to avoid "a break with past practice."

Other higher education items included among the governor's 72 line item vetoes would have required medical schools to submit annual reports assuring they are taking advantage of all available federal funds, and specifying that the budget and management office study debt management at state-affiliated institutions. Rhodes called the latter unneeded, saying it duplicates accountability required in other sections of the bill.

Say Ruppert Knew Right From Wrong

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — James U. Ruppert knew the difference between right and wrong when he admitted shooting his mother and brother, but their deaths were probably "psychotically motivated," according to a psychiatrist testifying for the prosecution.

Dr. Robert J. McDevitt, of the Butler County Forensic Center, said Ruppert's determination of what caused him to shot his brother showed he knew right from wrong, but the doctor said he could not decide the issue of criminal responsibility in the case.

"Although he knew he was wrong, he may have felt justified to rid himself of his conspiracy," McDevitt said.

McDevitt was one of two psychiatrists appointed by the Butler County Common Pleas Court to determine the sanity of the 41-year-old Hamilton man at the time he allegedly shot 11 members of his family.

Ruppert was suffering from a long-standing psychosis, according to McDevitt, who said during cross-examination that the murders of his mother and brother appeared to be psychotically motivated. The rest of his family was killed "in a spillover of psychotic rage," McDevitt said.

McDevitt said that after shooting his mother and brother, Ruppert told him he shot the rest of his family "in an automatic way."

"It's impossible to say if he did it in this way," McDevitt said.

The Hamilton psychiatrist said Ruppert was eager to tell his story in detail, but did not mention the incident of an obscene phone call he allegedly made in 1965. Other doctors have testified that Ruppert told them that this incident was the start of a conspiracy against him.

McDevitt was the last of the prosecution's 10 witnesses Monday. Prosecutor John Holcomb led off the day's testimony by calling Wanda Mae Bishop, who testified that after knowing Ruppert for eight months, she had fallen in love with him.

The 28-year-old Hamilton woman said she was with him the night before Easter at a local cocktail lounge where they usually met.

Guard Made Decision On KSU Order

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An order barring demonstrations at Kent State University in May 1970 was based on determinations by Ohio National Guardsmen not legal experts, a guard officer testified Monday.

Maj. Harry Jones said he was asked by Kent State Vice President Robert Matson whether demonstrations should be prohibited after two days of rioting that included burning of the campus Reserve Officers Training Corps building.

Jones said he conferred with his superior and then reported back to Matson that in Jones's opinion such gatherings should not be permitted.

The following day, May 4, 1970, guard Brig. Gen. Robert Canterbury ordered troops to clear the campus Commons of students protesting U.S. military activity in Cambodia. About half an hour later, guardsmen fired on students, killing four and wounding nine.

The victims and their families are suing for $46 million in damages. Defendants include Gov. James Rhodes, who ordered guardsmen to Kent; three ex-state officials and 39 guardsmen.

In opening statements, lawyers for the victims said the question of who ordered what they considered a legal rally dispersed would be a central issue in the suit.

Riffe Blasts Rhodes Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr. charged Monday night that Gov. James A. Rhodes' partial veto of the state's $10.6 billion appropriations bill was inconsistent and politically motivated.

The speaker told The Associated Press he was particularly puzzled by Rhodes' criticism that the budget was $100 million out of balance.

Riffe, D-89 New Boston, added: "The budget he sent to the legislature asked for spending of $10.79 billion. We cut that by well over $100 million."

He also charged that Rhodes' own proposed budget, sent to the lawmakers last March, was $300 million out of balance when Rhodes withdrew his support of a plan to collect advance payments of the corporate franchise tax.

Riffe noted that the governor had proposed nine quarterly collections of the tax during the biennium, but that the Senate later changed that to only eight quarterly payments.

He said the governor's veto of the Senate version took nearly $100 million out of a state cash flow his won advisers said they were worried about.

The speaker said it was strange that Rhodes now has ordered a two per cent cut in the allocations of his executive departments.

"He could have waited a year and a half to do that if it could be proved that the budget was going to be short," said Riffe, adding that "the fact he is doing it now, at the start of the biennium, looks like he wants a big push to get rid of Democratic employees in the state agencies."

Wood Family To Speak At Jefferson CCCU

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald Wood, missionary appointees to Papua, New Guinea, will speak 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Circleville-Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union, located on the Circleville-Tarilton Road.

Born in Braman, Oklahoma, Wood grew up near Kansas City, Missouri, where his family had moved. Following high school, he enrolled in John Wesley College in Owosso, Michigan, where he decided to be a missionary.

Also at JWC, he met Miss Dorothy Love from Lancaster, Ohio, who also was preparing for the mission field. They were united in marriage May 27, 1949, and graduated in 1952, with each receiving a Th B degree. They then pastored for a time in Missouri.

In 1955, Wood was drafted into the U.S. Army and was sent to Korea. When he was released from service, he completed work at John Wesley College for an AB degree in religion. He also holds an MA degree in Education from Michigan State University in East Lansing and has met requirements for Elementary Teacher Certification. While taking his graduate work, he taught at Chesaning Junior High School.

The Woods served as missionaries in Zambia, Africa, from 1963 to 1968. His duties included teaching in a high school and serving as a mission station superintendent. She ministered in church work to the women and children. For medical reasons they were unable to return to Zambia.

After settling in Lancaster, he taught school while she worked in an office. The Woods transferred their church membership to the Lancaster CCCU Church, where Mrs. Wood formerly attended. She has served as the missionary president of that church.

With missions still burning in their hearts, the Woods received appointment by the General Missionary Board to Papua New Guinea for a three-year term. Plans are for them to manage the Farata Mission Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood, with their four children, expect to leave for New Guinea shortly after mid-September if their share support has been raised.

Higher Education Measures Vetoed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes disallowed several proposals affecting state universities in his partial veto of the state's new $10.6 billion budget bill.

They included a suggested ceiling on student fees which the governor said are a matter best left up to the boards of trustees of the various institutions.

Rhodes also rejected, because of "unworkable language," a provision exempting out-of-state students from tuition surcharges if they live within 30 miles of the campus.

Majority Democrats inserted the provision into the bill to try to help the University of Toledo, the University of Cincinnati, and Youngstown State University.

Rhodes' budget director, Howard L. Collier, said the language in the bill would have provided an unintentional exemption for nonresidents who live in Ohio but meet the 30-mile criteria at the same time. The governor said the plan could be the subject of future legislation.

Also turned down, on the basis of faulty language, was a requirement for the universities to initiate "affirmative action" plans to assure nondiscrimination on the basis of sex and race and reflecting Ohio's population. Rhodes contended the language would "eliminate" predominantly black Central State University, as it is now constituted. Rhodes agrees "with the concept," however, Collier said.

Similarly, the governor nixed a Democratic plan to have grants under the Ohio Instructional Grants program be based on the gross income of a student's family, rather than income after adjustments for taxes. Rhodes said the bill contradicts itself, providing that grants for the 1975-1976 school year would continue to be on adjusted income.

Rhodes vetoed another provision that would have placed a special $10 million subsidy for the University of Cincinnati into the State Controlling Board. He said forthcoming legislation will seek to have it handled by the Board of Regents to avoid "a break with past practice."

Other higher education items included among the governor's 72 line item vetoes would have required medical schools to submit annual reports assuring they are taking advantage of all available federal funds, and specifying that the budget and management office study debt management at state-affiliated institutions. Rhodes called the latter unneeded, saying it duplicates accountability required in other sections of the bill.

Guard Made Decision On KSU Order

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An order barring demonstrations at Kent State University in May 1970 was based on determinations by Ohio National Guardsmen not legal experts, a guard officer testified Monday.

Maj. Harry Jones said he was asked by Kent State Vice President Robert Matson whether demonstrations should be prohibited after two days of rioting that included burning of the campus Reserve Officers Training Corps building.

Jones said he conferred with his superior and then reported back to Matson that in Jones's opinion such gatherings should not be permitted.

The following day, May 4, 1970, guard Brig. Gen. Robert Canterbury ordered troops to clear the campus Commons of students protesting U.S. military activity in Cambodia. About half an hour later, guardsmen fired on students, killing four and wounding nine.

The victims and their families are suing for $46 million in damages. Defendants include Gov. James Rhodes, who ordered guardsmen to Kent; three ex-state officials and 39 guardsmen.

In opening statements, lawyers for the victims said the question of who ordered what they considered a legal rally dispersed would be a central issue in the suit.

Riffe Blasts Rhodes Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr. charged Monday night that Gov. James A. Rhodes' partial veto of the state's $10.6 billion appropriations bill was inconsistent and politically motivated.

The speaker told The Associated Press he was particularly puzzled by Rhodes' criticism that the budget was $100 million out of balance.

Riffe, D-89 New Boston, added: "The budget he sent to the legislature asked for spending of $10.79 billion. We cut that by well over $100 million."

He also charged that Rhodes' own proposed budget, sent to the lawmakers last March, was $300 million out of balance when Rhodes withdrew his support of a plan to collect advance payments of the corporate franchise tax.

Riffe noted that the governor had proposed nine quarterly collections of the tax during the biennium, but that the Senate later changed that to only eight quarterly payments.

He said the governor's veto of the Senate version took nearly $100 million out of a state cash flow his won advisers said they were worried about.

The speaker said it was strange that Rhodes now has ordered a two per cent cut in the allocations of his executive departments.

"He could have waited a year and a half to do that if it could be proved that the budget was going to be short," said Riffe, adding that "the fact he is doing it now, at the start of the biennium, looks like he wants a big push to get rid of Democratic employes in the state agencies."

Youth Hurt In Tractor Accident

Seventeen-year-old Gerald Gillian, Route 5, was admitted to Berger Hospital for injuries sustained in a farming accident, 7 p.m. Monday.

Gillian was working in a field behind the Ruben Jones farm, when he began to unhook a bush-hog from the rear of an International tractor. The tractor, located on a slight grade, began rolling downhill.

The youth tried to jump on the vehicle to stop it, when he was caught by the right rear tire which pulled him between the tire and the small frame bar under the tractor.

The youth received lacerations and abrasions to his back and a fractured pelvis.

The boy resides with his step-grandparents at Route 5.

Firemen Answer Two Calls

The Circleville Fire Department responded to two calls Monday afternoon. The first call came at 2:10 p.m. but was a false alarm from the Circleville Manor. One of the patients accidentally pulled the fire alarm while going down the hall.

At 5:43 p.m. firemen dispatched to a storage shed on Lowery Lane, off Crites Road. Loss on the two-story wood structure owned by William Seymour was estimated at $200. Firemen set the damages for the contents of the shed at $50.

The exact cause of the fire is unknown.

Ohio Headed For Bumper Crop Of Corn, Soybeans This Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio appears headed for bumper crops of corn and soybeans on acreage slightly reduced from 1974, agronomists reported today.

Some agronomists are hoping the average yield hits the 90-bushel-an-acre level of 1972 — a 17 bushels to the acre increase that would mean several millions more dollars in the Buckeye farmer's pocketbook.

But, it all depends on rain during the next two or three weeks.

"I talked to an agronomist today who said the corn crop was 15 days ahead of last year in its development," said Dr. Wallace Barr, agricultural economist at Ohio State University.

Ohio farmers had prospects for a good year in 1974, too, until dry weather in late July and in August cut back the average yield to 73 bushels to the acre.

The average yield in 1972 was 92 bushels to the acre, but it fell off in 1973 to 79 bushels.

One crop expert said normal weather might push this year's corn crop up to 90 bushels to the acre, although he didn't want to climb out on the limb publicly. With corn at around $2.50 a bushel, that would sharply increase the farmers' take.

Corn acreage is down 4 per cent this year, the Ohio Crop Reporting Service said Monday, with total estimated acreage at 3,500,000 acres.

OCRS also reported soybean acreage down 2 per cent at an estimated 3,120,000 acres, which would be the smallest harvested acreage since 1972.

Total acreage for corn, soybeans, winter wheat, oats and hay in Ohio remained slightly above last year at 10,390,000 acres, thanks principally to a 15 per cent increase in winter wheat acreage and a 5 per cent hike in hay acreage.

The same bright harvest prospects that held for corn appeared in line for soybeans.

Corn needs moisture more than warm weather, the experts reported, if a bumper yield is to be realized.

The winter wheat crop, on the eve of harvesting, may be the largest acreage reaped since 1953, if OCRS estimates hold firm. OCRS estimated winter wheat acres to be harvested at 1,770,000.

Commissioners Discuss CETA

The Pickaway County Commissioners discussed the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) with Greg Bigam, coordinator of the program during their meeting Monday. They also allocated funds for a lawnmower and met with Charles Rideout, administrator of Berger Hospital.

The CETA program employed four men to do repair work in the townships. Originally all the men worked for two weeks in each township, Bigam said. The trustees decided they only needed two men at a time, so Bigam changed that part of the program.

Doug Radcliff, groundskeeper of the county office buildings, asked the commissioners for a new push lawnmower because the repair bills were too high for the present one. The commissioners approved funds for a lawnmower.

Rideout summarized the activities of the hospital for the past month to Commissioners Robert Liston, Dick Tootle and Donald Strous.

Food Price Rise Noted In Survey

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers who had been enjoying spring's respite from grocery store increases found prices on the rise during June, with most of the boost due to higher costs for meat and eggs, according to an Associated Press marketbasket survey.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price on March 1, 1973, at one supermarket in each of 13 cities and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

Among the highlights of the latest survey:

—The marketbasket bill at the checklist store went up in five cities, rising an average of 2.5 per cent; declined in seven cities, down an average of 2 per cent; and was unchanged in one. This compared with decreases in 10 cities during May and in 13 cities during April.

—Meat and eggs led the list of more costly items. The increases were generally due to higher prices paid to farmers and reflected smaller supplies coming to market. Industry experts predict supplies of beef in particular will increase later this year, but they are unable to say exactly when or how much.

The price of a pound of chopped chuck went up at the checklist store in five cities, following increases in eight cities in May. Pork chops were more expensive at the end of June at the check store in nine cities, as were all-beef frankfurters.

Eggs, which had been decreasing steadily for almost a year, went up during June in check stores in eight cities. Increases ranged up to 44 per cent in Dallas, where the price of a dozen Grade-A, medium white eggs went from 39 to 56 cents at the store checked.

Sugar prices continued their slide, down at the checklist store in every city except Boston, where the specified size and type of sugar was unavailable at the outlet surveyed. The price of a five-pound sack of granulated sugar generally averaged about $1.30 at the end of June, contrasting with levels of about $3 at the end of last year.

On the brighter side, there were signs that things aren't as bad as they were in 1973 and 1974 when grocery prices soared as much as 20 per cent in a year, prompting some consumer boycotts.

The AP survey showed the marketbasket bill for the checklist store in the 13 cities covered was an average of 10 per cent higher at the end of June than it was a year earlier. And, in every city except Boston, the bill at the end of June was lower than it was at the start of the year. The average decrease was 8.7 per cent.

The items on The AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M.; Atlanta, Ga.; Boston; Chicago; Dallas; Detroit; Los Angeles; Miami; New York; Philadelphia; Providence, R.I.; Salt Lake City, and Seattle.

Tax Payment Plan Dead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The on again, off again change to quarterly payments by big corporations of their state franchise tax wound up on the scrap heap, apparently.

GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes, who proposed the switch initially to help ease the state's cash flow problems, vetoed a modified version of it Monday along with other items in the state's new $10.6 billion budget bill.

Democrats wrote it into the bill after Rhodes, prevailed upon by manufacturers and others, withdrew his support of the change. It would have funneled about $85 million this year into the state's general revenue fund as corporations changed from annual payments. Their tax bills would have stayed the same over the long range.

In his veto message, however, Rhodes noted that many corporate taxpayers currently are having cash problems themselves, and are having to lay off employees. They are the same taxpayers which provide "thousands of jobs for our citizens," he said.

Budget and Management Director Howard L. Collier said an order by Rhodes for a two per cent cut in the allocations of state agencies would enable the OBM to handle the cash flow problem "administratively."

Volunteer Attends Conference

Marsha Schneider, 336 E. Union St., attended an Ohio Association of Volunteers in Criminal Justice-sponsored workshop June 27-28 at Ohio State University, Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus.

Eighty-eight people representing volunteer programs throughout Ohio and in Michigan, Indiana and Pennsylvania each attended four 3-hour workshops studying various aspects of volunteerism.

Dr. Martin Gold, program director of the Research Center for Group Dynamics at the University of Michigan instructed a class on evaluation of volunteer programs which Ms. Schneider attended.

Other sessions which Ms. Schneider participated in were Communication Skills taught by Charles Hobgood of Defiance College, Fund Raising by Robert Dornier of Canton and Crisis Counseling by Dr. Jack Richardson, assistant director of the graduate corrections program at Xavier University, Cincinnati.

Luncheon speaker for the Saturday session was Judge Keith Leenhouts of Royal Oak, Mich., director of national volunteers in probation. Leenhouts originated the first volunteer probation program in the nation in 1959. Tax Payment Plan Dead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The on again, off again change to quarterly payments by big corporations of their state franchise tax wound up on the scrap heap, apparently.

GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes, who proposed the change initially to help ease the state's cash flow problems, vetoed a modified version of it Monday along with other items in the state's new $10.6 billion budget bill.

Democrats wrote it into the bill after Rhodes, prevailed upon by manufacturers and others, withdrew his support of the change. It would have funneled about $85 million this year into the state's general revenue fund as corporations changed from annual payments. Their tax bills would have stayed the same over the long range.

In his veto message, however, Rhodes noted that many corporate taxpayers currently are having cash problems themselves, and are having to lay off employees. They are the same taxpayers which provide "thousands of jobs for our citizens," he said.

Budget and Management Director Howard L. Collier said an order by Rhodes for a two per cent cut in the allocations of state agencies would enable the OBM to handle the cash flow problem "administratively."

Billie Jean Wins Match Despite Ills

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King has a sore throat and a runny nose, but an attack of English hay fever has done little to stop what she insists is her final bid for a sixth Wimbledon singles title.

The 31-year-old tennis queen won her quarter-final match against Russia's Olga Morozova 6-3, 6-3 Monday to reach the semifinals without dropping a set.

The men play their quarterfinals today with 22-year-old left-hander Jimmy Connors still the odds-on favorite to retain his title.

Connors, who hasn't dropped a set, meets elegant Mexican Raul Ramirez. The other quarter-finals are: Arthur Ashe vs. Bjorn Borg of Sweden; Roscoe Tanner vs. Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, and Tom Okker of the Netherlands vs. Tony Roche of Australia.

Ms. King has never lost to Miss Evert on grass, and after Chrissie struggled to a 5-7, 7-5, 6-0 quarter-final victory Monday over unseeded Betty Stove of the Netherlands, even the players are saying that an upset is possible when the two Americans meet.

PCC Golf Pro Enjoys Post

By ANDREA PORTER

Jim Stemble, the first-year golf pro at the Pickaway Country Club, said he likes the atmosphere at this club. "It's more relaxed than some of the other clubs I've worked at."

Stemble, of 134 Pleasant St., said he does not plan any drastic changes in the way the pro shop has been run in the past. He has initiated the practice of setting up tee times. Another minor change he has made has been rearranging the interior of the pro shop.

Stemble's wife, Debbie, helps him in the pro shop. "It's good to always have somebody in here that can be in charge," Stemble said. When she works, she brings in their 9-month-old daughter, Allison Michele, who enjoys sleeping, eating and playing in the pro shop.

The other assistants for Stemble are Mike Hamilton and Mark MacFadden.

Before coming to Circleville, Stemble worked as assistant pro at Indian Run Golf Club in Westerville, and Worthington Hills Country Club. During the army, Stemble said he was head golf pro at Carlisle Barracks in Pennsylvania.

Stemble has been playing golf for 22 years and it is the only occupation he knows. He started working in a pro shop when he was 13-years-old, and was on the golf team at Lancaster High School.

Stemble hasn't been in town enough to evaluate his feelings on it. He said because the country club has a down-to-earth environment, it is an enjoyable place to work.

Wical Wins Feature Race

Jim Wical, Raymond, won the super sprint feature at Atomic Speedway, Saturday night. This was Wical's first win this year.

Bob Carrico started in the 7th position behind Wical in 4th, took the second place. Both broke out of the pack at the same time and Carrico put the pressure on Wical for the entire race while trying to hold off the close contention of Charlie Schwartz for the last 10 laps. Wical and Carrico stretched their lead over third place finisher, Charlie Schwartz, in the last couple of laps.

Heat winners were Randy Curllis and Charlie Schwartz. After the green flag was given in the second heat, hard-charging George Harbour went up over the back of Bud Frazier's right rear wheel rolling both cars. Harbour a five time winner this year was eliminated for the evening, but Frazier was able to continue.

Earning his first feature win in the late model's division this year is Bill Hayes from South Shore, Ky. At the start Ernie Morrison spun out in turn 1, lap 1, causing a complete restart. Jim West broke out of his front position and lead the race for 7 laps when Hayes took over the lead followed by No. 0, Skip Waterman, and George Branscom.

Dick French and Moe Beeler won the heats.

Fred Payne took his second hobby stock victory this year under a strenuous battle from the start. Davey Williams, driving a Ford Fairlane, led for 8 laps when he went low on the track and Payne went high gaining enough power to overtake him. Charlie Seymour who started in 10th position worked his way through the field. Seymour coming around for the checkered flag, running in 2nd, spun out and finished 7th putting Williams in 2nd. Jerry Porter, No. 6, blew an engine spreading oil all the way around the track and it had to be run in for 11 laps under the caution flag.

Heat winners were Williams and Payne.

Cleveland Sweeps Pair From Tigers

CLEVELAND (AP)—Roric Harrison believed there would be a letdown and Eric Raich believed he'd never throw another strike.

Both men are Cleveland Indians pitchers and both of them were wrong.

Harrison and Raich went the distance in two sides of a doubleheader that the Indians swept from the Detroit Tigers, 4-1, 3-2, Monday.

"We're both at the bottom of the heap and I thought maybe we'd be down because of the long stretch we've had," said Harrison, who evened his record at 2-2. "But we came out there fighting and never let down. We hit the ball and forced them into error situations."

The Tribe collected three unearned runs in the first game as George Hendrick, Buddy Bell and Frank Duffy crossed the plate with the assistance of Tiger errors.

The Indians' earned run came in the fifth inning when Bell scored on Hendrick's single.

The Tigers scored their only run in the opener when Ron LeFlore crossed the plate on Willie Horton's sacrifice fly. Vern Ruhle went the distance and dropped to 6-5 for Detroit.

"Ruhle pitched a lot better game than the statistics show," said Tiger Manager Ralph Houk. "We just played a bad ball game."

Raich, who upped his record to 4-2, said "I had a nightmare (Sunday) night that I'd never throw another strike. Believe me I really did."

Raich's nightmare was prompted by his one-third inning pitched in Milwaukee on Saturday. "I just couldn't get the ball over the plate that day, and I just couldn't stop thinking about why," he said.

Raich collected five strikeouts over nine innings pitched and held on as the Tribe came from behind to win it in the eighth.

Chillicothe Drivers Win At Speedway

Chillicothe drivers took top honors at Saltcreek Valley Speedway last week. Dick French finished ahead of George Branscom, Charlie Seymour, Jerry McDonald and Bob Crace in the feature.

Charlie Seymour won the helmet dash.

In the first heat, Jim Taylor of Circleville won, Bob Dean was second and Richard Johnson third.

The second heat went to Dick Grimm of Lancaster who finished ahead of Curt Boice and Richard Morehead.

Greg Hatfield, Bob Crace and Dick French finished in that order in the third race. There will be Firecracker Races Friday with time trials scheduled at 7 and racing at 8 p.m.

Stemble's wife, Debbie, helps him in the pro shop. "It's good to always have somebody in here that can be in charge," Stemble said. When she works, she brings in their 9-month-old daughter, Allison Michele, who enjoys sleeping, eating and playing in the pro shop.

The other assistants for Stemble are Mike Hamilton and Mark MacFadden. Before coming to Circleville, Stemble worked as assistant pro at Indian Run Golf Club in Westerville, and Worthington Hills Country Club. During the army, Stemble said he was head golf pro at Carlisle Barracks in Pennsylvania.

Stemble has been playing golf for 22 years and it is the only occupation he knows. He started working in a pro shop when he was 13-years-old, and was on the golf team at Lancaster High School.

Stemble hasn't been in town enough to evaluate his feelings on it. He said because the country club has a down-to-earth environment, it is an enjoyable place to work.

Wical Wins Feature Race

Jim Wical, Raymond, won the super sprint feature at Atomic Speedway, Saturday night. This was Wical's first win this year.

Bob Carrico started in the 7th position behind Wical in 4th, took the second place. Both broke out of the pack at the same time and Carrico put the pressure on Wical for the entire race while trying to hold off the close contention of Charlie Schwartz for the last 10 laps. Wical and Carrico stretched their lead over third place finisher, Charlie Schwartz, in the last couple of laps.

Heat winners were Randy Curly and Charlie Schwartz. After the green flag was given in the second heat, hard-charging George Harbour went up over the back of Bud Frazier's right rear wheel rolling both cars. Harbour a five time winner this year was eliminated for the evening, but Frazier was able to continue.

Earning his first feature win in the late model's division this year is Bill Hayes from South Shore, Ky. At the start Ernie Morrison spun out in turn 1, lap 1, causing a complete restart. Jim West broke out of his front position and lead the race for 7 laps when Hayes took over the lead followed by No. 0, Skip Waterman, and George Branscom.

Dick French and Moe Beeler won the heats.

Fred Payne took his second hobby stock victory this year under a strenuous battle from the start. Davey Williams, driving a Ford Fairlane, led for 8 laps when he went low on the track and Payne went high gaining enough power to overtake him. Charlie Seymour who started in 10th position worked his way through the field. Seymour coming around for the checkered flag, running in 2nd, spun out and finished 7th putting Williams in 2nd. Jerry Porter, No. 6, blew an engine spreading oil all the way around the track and it had to be run in for 11 laps under the caution flag.

Heat winners were Williams and Payne.

Cleveland Sweeps Pair From Tigers

CLEVELAND (AP)—Roric Harrison believed there would be a letdown and Eric Raich believed he'd never throw another strike.

Both men are Cleveland Indians pitchers and both of them were wrong. Harrison and Raich went the distance in two sides of a doubleheader that the Indians swept from the Detroit Tigers, 4-1, 3-2, Monday.

"We're both at the bottom of the heap and I thought maybe we'd be down because of the long stretch we've had," said Harrison, who evened his record at 2-2. "But we came out there fighting and never let down. We hit the ball and forced them into error situations."

The Tribe collected three unearned runs in the first game as George Hendrick, Buddy Bell and Frank Duffy crossed the plate with the assistance of Tiger errors.

The Indians' earned run came in the fifth inning when Bell scored on Hendrick's single.

The Tigers scored their only run in the opener when Ron LeFlore crossed the plate on Willie Horton's sacrifice fly. Vern Ruhle went the distance and dropped to 6-5 for Detroit.

"Ruhle pitched a lot better game than the statistics show," said Tiger Manager Ralph Houk. "We just played a bad ball game."

Raich, who upped his record to 4-2, said "I had a nightmare (Sunday) night that I'd never throw another strike. Believe me I really did."

Raich's nightmare was prompted by his one-third inning pitched in Milwaukee on Saturday. "I just couldn't get the ball over the plate that day, and I just couldn't stop thinking about why," he said.

Raich collected five strikeouts over nine innings pitched and held on as the Tribe came from behind to win it in the eighth.

Chillicothe Drivers Win At Speedway

Chillicothe drivers took top honors at Saltcreek Valley Speedway last week. Dick French finished ahead of George Branscom, Charlie Seymour, Jerry McDonald and Bob Crace in the feature.

Charlie Seymour won the helmet dash.

In the first heat, Jim Taylor of Circleville won, Bob Dean was second and Richard Johnson third.

The second heat went to Dick Grimm of Lancaster who finished ahead of Curt Boice and Richard Morehead.

Greg Hatfield, Bob Crace and Dick French finished in that order in the third race. There will be Firecracker Races Friday with time trials scheduled at 7 and racing at 8 p.m.

"Let me win. But if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt." This oath was repeated by the 2,200 participants in the Special Olympics held Sunday and Monday at the Ohio State University.

The Special Olympics is competitive races in track and field events, held especially for the mentally retarded. This year, 80 Ohio communities and 10 state institutions were represented in these events.

Twelve students from Brooks Yates School participated in the events which included the soft ball throw, 50-yard dash, standing long jump and the 220-yard run.

These students stayed overnight in an Ohio State dormitory and ate in the dining halls, probably their closest chance to experience of college life.

Four representatives from the school went up with the students. They are, Jay Clevenger, superintendent, Marion Althaus and Clark Hunsicker, teachers at the school, and Harvey Howison, occupational therapist at the adult workshop.

Suzanne Spalding, of 593 Northridge Road, volunteered to help with the students and their activities for the two days. Miss Spalding will be a senior at Miami University majoring in Special Education. Earlier this year she worked with the district competition in Miami.

Winners from Pickaway County are: Mary Sue Romine, 459 Watt St., third in the 50 yard dash; Frank Sheppard, 175 Hayward St., first in the softball throw and third in the 50 yard dash; Sally Strawser, Route 1, Ashville, fourth place in both the softball throw and the 50 yard dash; Debbie Otis, 1310 S. Pickaway St., first in the softball throw and third in the 50 yard dash.

Ricky Rhodes, 621 S. Scioto St., received first place in the 50 yard dash; Francene Porter, 615 Ridgewood Drive, fourth in the 50 yard dash; Brad Jones, Route 1, Kingston, first in the standing long jump and fourth in the softball throw; and Carol Rubadue, 459 Watt St., fourth in the 50 yard dash.

Jack Ball, 220 W. Corwin St., second in the 220 yard dash and third in the 50 yard dash; Jim McKelvey, 955 Circle

Monzon, Galindez Keep Titles

NEW YORK (AP) — The Argentine invasion of Madison Square Garden was a total success Monday night as champions Carlos Monzon and Victor Galindez both defended their World Boxing Association titles with impressive victories.

Galindez scored a unanimous 15-round decision over Jorge Ahumada to keep his light heavyweight title and then Monzon stopped game Tony Licata in the 10th round of their scheduled 15-rounder to retain the middleweight crown.

It was the fifth time that Ahumada and Galindez have fought and the fourth time Galindez has defeated his countryman.

"He was the same old Galindez tonight," said Ahumada. "Strong and rude."

The champion piled up points with blistering lefts and right uppercuts that repeatedly caught Ahumada as he bore in to take the fight to Galindez.

In the third round, Galindez dropped the challenger with a stiff left that seemed to land just as the bell sounded, ending the round. Ahumada's corner howled when referee Jim Devlin ruled it a knockdown but Galindez insisted that the ruling was correct. "It was a legal knockdown," said the champion. "It was exactly one second before the gong and that is why the referee counted through six."

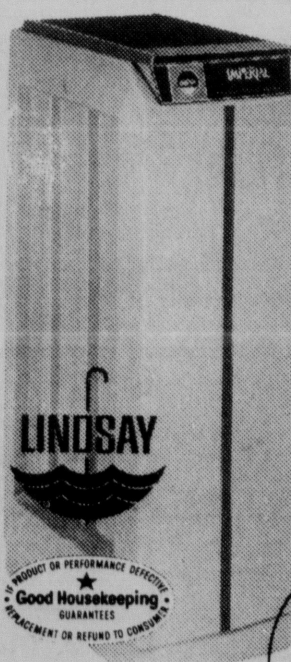

Gil Clancy, Ahumada's manager, thought the controversial knockdown had "a psychological effect over the judges favoring Galindez." But the decision was unanimous and one-sided. Referee Devlin had it 9-5-1, Judge Bill Recht called it 10-3-2, and Judge Raoul Amadeo saw it 6-2-7, all for Galindez. The Associated Press' card had the champion on top, 11-4.

In the second fight, Monzon took charge early and seemed headed for a quick knockout against his young opponent. But Licata fought back gamely, stinging the champion several times as he bounced off the ropes.

Each of the 12 Sundays of racing at Delaware Park will feature a stake race in the meeting which runs until Aug. 10.

Bench, Reds Whip Astros, 9-6

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds are working overtime these days and they're turning Riverfront Stadium into a sweatshop for opposing relief pitchers.

Johnny Bench was the whipcracker Monday night with a three-run homer in the 12th inning that gave the Reds a 9-6 triumph over the Houston Astros. Last Friday, Dan Driessen belted a three-run homer in the 11th inning to defeat San Diego and Saturday George Foster cracked a two-run shot in the 10th to beat the Padres.

In other National League action Monday night, the Los Angeles Dodgers ended a fivegame losing streak by defeating San Diego 4-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Montreal Expos 5-3, the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 and the New York Mets whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-1. Atlanta and San Francisco were not scheduled.

The Reds trailed Houston 6-2 but scored three times in the eighth on Ken Griffey's basesloaded triple and tied it in the ninth on pinch hitter Bill Plummer's sacrifice fly. Joe Niekro retired the first two Cincinnati batters in the 12th but Griffey doubled, Joe Morgan walked and Bench followed with his 16th home run.

The Reds celebrated Riverfront Stadium's fifth anniversary by extending their major league record to 15 consecutive errorless games and setting a club record with their 21st triumph in the month of June. They lost seven times.

Kid Jody Winner Of Latonia Feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Kid Jody laid back in third until the stretch, then swept past the leaders Monday night for a one-length victory to win the feature at Latonia.

The winner sped over the mile course in 2:02 2-5 to return $5.80, $3.80 and $2.60. Hartys Dill paid $3.40 and $2.40 for second. Sexy was the show horse at $3.00.

The daily double paid $50.40 on the 3-3 combination of As Usual and Danas Frosty.

A crowd of 1,537 wagered $112,547.

Coaly Vic Winner Of Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coaly Vic led from the quarter pole on to capture the featured race at Scioto Downs Monday night.

The winner returned $9.60, $6.80 and $4. Arch Berry paid $10.60 and $5 for second and Racealot, $3.20 for show.

The 8-4 daily double combination of An An and Si Bloom was worth $25.20. A crowd of 4,617 wagered $246,771.

Charley Taylor of the Washington Redskins has scored 73 touchdowns on pass receptions in 11 years of pro football.

Messersmith hurled a six-hitter to become the NL's first 12-game winner. Cey stroked a two-run single in the first inning and led off the sixth with his 12th home run of the season. Messersmith had a one-hitter until the Padres scored in the seventh on singles by Gene Locklear, Dave Winfield and Randy Hundley.

Pirates 5, Expos 3

Pitcher Larry Demery tripled and scored Pittsburgh's first run and Richie Zisk homered. Demery allowed three hits in seven innings before leaving with a bruised shin and Zisk left the game in the seventh after injuring his right index finger on a force play. The Pirates scored three decisive runs in the ninth on Rennie Stennett's RBI single, a basesloaded walk and Al

Oliver's sacrifice fly.

Cardinals 4, Phillies 2

Mike Tyson drove in two St. Louis runs with a double and single and relief ace Al Hrabosky pitched two hitless innings and struck out three after Bob Forsch held the Phils to seven hits, including home runs by Mike Schmidt and Dave Cash. Ted Simmons and Ken Reitz also had run-scoring singles for the Cards.

Mets 5, Cubs 1

George Stone scattered eight hits and allowed one unearned run in pitching his first complete game since May 21, 1974, and Rusty Staub triggered a tie-breaking four-run eighth inning with a run-scoring single. Ed Kranepool, Jerry Grote and Stone all followed with run-scoring hits.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): If things aren't going quite as you'd like, seek a new and more productive approach. Experiment a bit, but don't go to extremes.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Avoid present tendencies toward procrastination and "fussiness" over details. They could only hinder your progress. Concentrate on essentials.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A day for caution. Before acting, carefully investigate propositions, estimates, new undertakings generally. Do not depend on hearsay.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Tackle necessary tasks on time and with high hopes. Fears and doubts will dissolve with diligence, self-confidence and stick-to-it-iveness.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Auspicious solar influences now stimulate your incentive and ambitions. Progress and enduring rewards indicated through properly channeled efforts.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You may have to sacrifice some personal desires for the good of all. But, in the long run, it will pay.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Avoid a tendency toward procrastination and concentrate on immediate objectives. Inclinations now are to daydream about the future — unrealistically.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Some things you thought "impossible" begin to work out now, can be pushed by your know-how and dexterity. Take the proverbial bull by the horns — and ACT!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Much competition in store. You should revel in most of the challenges offered. A fine day for capitalizing on your organizational abilities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): An excellent day for considering new business arrangements — especially if they involve real estate or property improvements.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Fine Uranus influences. A good day for capitalizing on unusual ideas, initiating new systems, and experimenting generally.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Your creative ideas may need some revision before they can be carried out, so be sure to study all angles of feasibility before presenting them.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with many talents through which you could achieve a happy, successful life, but — and this is a BIG BUT, indeed — you often fail to reach your highest potentials because you have a tendency toward lethargy, lack of ambition and such a feeling of "what's the use?" that you eventually drift off into moods of chronic discouragement. All this can be avoided, however, if you will learn to discipline yourself in your early years and concentrate on developing your very best traits and realize that you have a very real mission in life. On the better side of your nature, there is beauty, rhythm and a humanitarianism which should not be denied. Properly developed, you could become an outstanding teacher, physician or nurse; could excel in music, designing or dancing. Curb that tendency toward inertia and the world can be yours. Birthdate of: Olav V, Norwegian king.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — It hasn't been publicized much, but owners of the new National Ratings League are meeting this week to draft promising young players for television, trade TV stars and maybe fool around a bit.

NRL commissioner Everett Scrimshaw says the league recently was formed by the networks to end costly bidding wars for college actors and help stars who won't work in their series unless they're paid more.

"But the main idea is to foster competition," says Scrimshaw, hired as league commissioner because of his work at the nationally-known Capt. Silly's Home for the Strange.

"We're currently seeking an anti-trust exemption from Congress like baseball has, and pretty soon we'll start negotiations with the public for off-camera rights to the players," he said.

"Of course, we might have trouble with 'The Invisible Man' because you won't really know if the star's there when you sell him. Maybe we can include a bucket of Da-Glo in the deal or something."

He said the new league will operate under A.C. Nielsen ratings rules, but it won't have eastern and western divisions. Instead, it'll have family hour and mature divisions.

When the league's first season starts next September, programs in the family hour division will compete for the right to appear in the Nice Bowl playoffs next May, he explained.

Shows in the mature division will battle for the Salacious Bowl playoffs, also in May.

The winning show from each division then will meet in the Rerun Bowl in July in a no-holds-barred test of good versus evil. The champion will be renewed for another season and the loser cancelled.

"There'll be enormous interest," Scrimshaw predicted, although he said it isn't known yet if the Rerun Bowl will be televised. "We're making a survey to find if the audience will be at home in July."

"But that's a long ways down the road. Right now, we're concentrating on the TV draft, and believe me, there are a lot of exciting young prospects, like UCLA's Snideley Foon."

"He's got good moves, great prejudices and is the No. 1 draft pick for 'All in the Family.' Another top candidate is Nelson Beamish from the Wharton School of Finance."

"He can compound interest on the Six Million Dollar Man."

Speaking of money, how can the National Ratings League help a TV star who won't return to his series without a big salary hike?

"Well, we're certain we can resolve the dispute amicably with the help of our new expert on contracts, Big Louie," the commissioner said. "Big Louie likes to see a TV star go back to work."

"If that doesn't happen, Big Louie says he likes to construct a four-story building on the bridge of the star's nose. But I'm sure he's only kidding. Aren't you, Big Louie?"

"Yeah," the contracts expert said. "I really build five stories."

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — It hasn't been publicized much, but owners of the new National Ratings League are meeting this week to draft promising young players for television, trade TV stars and maybe fool around a bit.

NRL commissioner Everett Scrimshaw says the league recently was formed by the networks to end costly bidding wars for college actors and help stars who won't work in their series unless they're paid more.

"But the main idea is to foster competition," says Scrimshaw, hired as league commissioner because of his work at the nationally-reknowned Capt. Silly's Home for the Strange.

"We're currently seeking an anti-trust exemption from Congress like baseball has, and pretty soon we'll start negotiations with the public for off-camera rights to the players," he said.

"Of course, we might have trouble with 'The Invisible Man' because you won't really know if the star's there when you sell him. Maybe we can include a bucket of Da-Glo in the deal or something."

He said the new league will operate under A.C. Nielsen ratings rules, but it won't have eastern and western divisions. Instead, it'll have family hour and mature divisions.

When the league's first season starts next September, programs in the family hour division will compete for the right to appear in the Nice Bowl playoffs next May, he explained.

Shows in the mature division will battle for the Salacious Bowl playoffs, also five stories.

Teays Valley Board To Hire Assistant Principal Tonight

The Teays Valley Board of Education will meet in continued session tonight at 7:30 to interview five applicants for the high school assistant principal position. The board met in regular session Monday night and employed three other certificated staff members. When the assistant principal's position is filled, the board will have completed staffing except for a high school science teacher.

Employed during the Monday meeting were Mrs. Rebecca Wolfe, graduate of Capital University, to teach first grade at Walnut Elementary; Thomas Heil, graduate of Otterbein College, to teach high school English; and Miss Joan Kuss, graduate of the University of Akron, to teach high school EMR. Each was given a one-year contract.

Local Superintendent Benis Lutz said this morning that he had 30 applicants for the assistant principal's position but he had narrowed that number to five. These five will be presented to the board for final selection.

In routine action during the evening, the board approved three investments and approved the textbook adoptions as recommended by committees. These textbooks had already been adopted by the County Board of Education for the areas of industrial arts, home economics, and spelling.

Supplemental contracts as follows were approved for teachers who are enrolling for course work this summer: Sue Edwards, high school, three quarter hours, $60; Linda Eckle, high school, nine quarter hours, $180; Laura Craven, Scioto School, six quarter hours, $120; Kenneth Edsall, junior high, six semester hours, $180; Angeliene Rinehart, high school, three semester hours, $90; Anna Towler, Scioto School, five quarter hours, $100; Roger Campbell, high school, 15 quarter hours, $300; and Mary Bendycki, high school, 14 quarter hours, $280.

The board allows extra compensation for additional credit hours.

Professional leave requests were granted for two vocational home economics teachers, Mrs. Beth Dague and Miss Janice Thordsen, to attend the State Vocational Home Economics Teachers' Convention in Columbus. The convention will be held Aug. 25 and 26 and the board will pay the expenses estimated at $20 each.

A professional leave request was also granted for Duane Corbett to attend the Moffit Marching Band Clinic at Otterbein College June 30 through July 3. Expenses will be paid by the board.

The resignation of Dennis Smith as industrial arts instructor in the junior high school was accepted effective at the close of his contract year.

The board voted to approve the implementation of an "Adaptation Grant Award" which has been approved in the tentative amount of $10,418 under the Title III program.

Approval was given to enter into a supplemental contract with Robert Jenkins, junior high principal, to serve as coordinator of the grant program. Jenkins will be compensated for his services at the rate of a $8.56 per hour for a total ceiling of $1,750 plus the board's share of retirement. All of this money is budgeted from the federal funds.

Larry Kirk and Thomas Pruden were employed under the terms of extended service contracts for the 1975-76 school year. Kirk is employed for extended service for the second semester in junior high industrial arts and Pruden for the first semester for the same class.

A transfer of $4,000 was made from the contingency fund to the gym equipment fund. The transfer was made for the purchase of a wrestling mat previously approved. The high school athletic activity account will reimburse the board one half of the cost of the mat.

The following non-certificated personnel were employed: Mrs. Beverly Six, Title I aide at Walnut School; Mrs. Sherrill Glick, study hall monitor at the high school and Mrs. Sophia Reynolds, study hall monitor at the junior high.

In other action concerning personnel, the board granted one-year leave of absence to Mrs. Donna Noecker for the 1975-76 school year. She will have the option of returning for the 1976-77 school year for the balance of her contract which is due to expire with the 1978-79 term.

Assignment of all the teachers for the 1975-76 school was made. State law provides that boards of education notify their teachers as to the salary of their positions on or before July 1 of each year.

The board will advertise for
